House OKs Slash In Taxes, Sends Bill to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed President Kennedy's $11-billion tax cut bill by a 271-155 vote, handing him one of the biggest legislative victories of his administration.

The battleground immediately shifts to the Senate, where administration forces already have launched an all-out drive for passage this year. The prospects are highly dubious.

If the Senate should approve the bill in its present form, ultimate reductions would range between $100 and $200 a year for most tax-paying families—more in the upper brackets.

The bill won the votes of 223 Democrats and 48 Republicans in the House roll call late Wednesday which capped two days of debate. Opposing passage were 126 Republicans and 29 Democrats.

The Ohio tally was 10 for the tax cut and 14 against it, as Republican Reps. William H. Ayres, Frank T. Bow, Charles A. Mosher and Paul F. Schenck joined all six Democrats in registering with the majority.

For the tax cut with Ayres, Bow, Mosher and Schenck were Democrats Ashley, Feighan, Hays, Kilwan, Secrest and Vanik.

Against it were Republicans Abele, Ashbrook, Betts, F. Bolton, O. Bolton, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Mineshall, Rich and Taft.

Just before passage, the Democrats turned back, 226-199, a Republican-backed move to cancel the tax cut unless the President cut back spending below the present rate.

The outcome was a special triumph for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, who led the fight to prevent defections by Southern Democrats on the show-down votes.

The $11-billion reduction, largest in history, would be shared by practically all U.S. taxpayers. Both individuals and corporations would benefit.

Kennedy has called the measure the keystone of his economic program. He has made it clear the administration has placed its hopes on solving the gnawing unemployment problem through increased spending resulting from the tax cut.

Senate Democratic leaders voiced strong confidence they have the votes to pass the bill eventually. It will remain alive in 1964 if it fails to get through this year.

But the administration is pushing hard for 1963 passage so that the new reduced withholding can take effect Jan. 1. As the House passed the measure, two-thirds of the benefits for individuals would be effective at that time.

The drive for fast Senate action puts the spotlight squarely on Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Finance Committee chairman, who opposes any tax cut without offsetting spending reductions.

Byrd announced that his committee would begin closed-door briefings on the bill with congressional staff experts a week from today and that they will continue at least a week.

This probably means that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will not get a chance to lead off the public hearings until Oct. 14 or 15.

Senate Democratic leaders did not at once take issue with Byrd publicly but privately expressed deep disappointment at this decision.

Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter he would talk with the Virginian in an effort to get him to speed up the committee's work. But Mansfield conceded Byrd had advised him it might well take the Senate Finance Committee two months to complete its action on the measure.

Deputy Is Suspended, Dines with Defendant

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran Deputy Sheriff David Yetta has been suspended for two weeks without pay by Sheriff James J. McGettrick for "improper judgment" in arresting Louis S. Kerr, indicted auto agency owner.

Yetta and another deputy were sent to arrest Kerr Tuesday, but accepted an invitation to dine at a downtown motel with the indicted man, his wife and attorney before going to county jail for booking. Kerr paid for the meal.

4-Foot Teacher Plans Fun in Class

DARRINGTON, Wash. (AP) — First-grade pupils in Miss Frieda Groenvelde's class can look their teacher squarely in the eyes. She is 4 feet tall.

Being of a size with her pupils bothers neither Miss Groenvelde nor the youngsters.

"Children need an answer," she says. "When you give it to them, that's all they need."

This is her first month as a teacher and Miss Groenvelde admits she had the usual opening-day jitters of the new schoolma'am. One boy, clutching his mother's hand, looked the teacher in the eyes and asked: "How come you are so little?"

"I'm as big as you are," said the little teacher as the mother blushed. "Aren't we going to have fun?"

Fun is one of the nice things about being a first-grader here, but there is always order and respect. When Miss Groenvelde mounts her kitchen stool—she calls it "my throne"—the class falls silent. Darrington School District officials believe they have found themselves a gem in their new teacher.

"I can really say that I've never wished that I were tall," says Miss Groenvelde.

"My parents always emphasized that I would have to make my own way without depending on people feeling sorry for me."

After graduation, from Seattle Pacific College she came to Dar-

'Guest Law' Stand Upheld

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 9th District Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday parents who permit relatives or friends to take their children for an automobile ride cannot collect damages for injuries to the child.

The court upheld a lower court decision involving a $35,000 suit filed by David L. Mitchell of Akron against his sister, Mary Jane Walker, on behalf of his 3-year-old daughter, Terrie Lynn.

Mitchell said in his petition that his daughter was injured in a crash on April 26, 1962, while in Miss Walker's car. Mitchell, who placed his daughter in the temporary care of his sister seven days earlier, said his child rode in her aunt's car at the "direct order and command" of Miss Walker and thus the normal "guest law" should not apply.

The appellate court rejected Mitchell's claim.

Farm Science Review Draws Large Gallery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first day of the first Ohio State farm science review, a giant display of farm equipment, science and technology, attracted an estimated 6,500 visitors Wednesday.

The review, which runs through Friday, is sponsored by Ohio State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Expositions Commission.

Some 119 exhibitors have set up shop on a 30-acre site surrounding Don Scott Field, the university's airport. Bordered the exhibit grounds are some 300 acres of corn and soybeans that will be harvested during the show by participating exhibitors of equipment.

The rest of the 450-acre review site is filled with field exhibits of crops both common and uncommon in Ohio, livestock displays, a homemakers' exhibition and parking lots.

Field demonstrations scheduled for both today and Friday include corn and soybeans harvesting, plowing and disking, silage chopping and filling, stalk chopping and aerial application of fertilizer.

Capitol Hill Spotlight Is Placed on Mobster

Kennedy Plugs For Resources

Water-Conscious West Hears Call for Action

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — President Kennedy argued today that his administration had gone all-out for water resource projects.

The President flew in here today on the third day of his 10,000-mile Western speaking tour after spending the night in Grand Teton National Park in neighboring Wyoming. Next he wings into Utah and Washington.

In an obvious bid to whip up support in the water-conscious West, which voting returns indicate has become increasingly conservative, Kennedy recalled that in the 1960 presidential campaign he pledged "a reversal of the policy of no new starts."

Kennedy said that by mid-1964 "we expect to have approved new construction starts on a total of 211 water resource projects and 182 watershed projects" costing about $4 billion.

This was a direct assault on the Eisenhower administration which, for budgetary reasons, at one point proclaimed a policy of "no new starts" on costly multipurpose water projects involving power, reclamation, recreation and flood control.

Kennedy also noted that in a Great Falls speech three years ago he promised "we would devote the benefits of public resources to the public good—that we would not permit them to be developed for the sole benefit of special interests."

In this context, he said that "in the past three years there have been no Hells Canyon blunders"—a reference to the fact that the Idaho Power Co. was licensed during the Eisenhower administration to build three low dams on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon—in contrast to one federally financed high dam recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers.

7,000 Freshmen Start Orientation at OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's three-day orientation program for new students begins today, with some 7,000 freshmen expected.

When classes start next week, more than 33,000 students will fill the classrooms on the main campus. The university's other campuses — at Lima, Newark, Marion, Mansfield and Lakewood — will accommodate thousands more.

Soviet Still Silent On Buying Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — In all the hub-bub over a possible sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union, a least one element is officially lacking: The big buyer.

Czechoslovakia, a member of the Soviet bloc, has approached the United States on the chance of a wheat deal. But Agriculture and State Department officials insist that the Soviet Union itself has made no move, either directly or indirectly.

However, action of President Kennedy in requesting two House committees to discuss the matter with two Cabinet members today was open to the interpretation that the government had knowledge that an offer was on the way.

The House Agriculture and Foreign Affairs Committees will go over the matter with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Two farm-minded senators—Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and George T. Aiken, R-Vt. — told newsmen they had heard from commercial and private trade sources that the Communists want to buy as much as 200 million bushels of wheat and a quantity of feed grain.

Generally, it has been taken for granted that the Communists would buy American grain only if they could get it at the cut-rate price at which it is sold to friendly countries under an export subsidy program.

That price is about 60 cents a bushel below the domestic price.

Prosecutor, Wife Held In Extortion

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — An assistant district attorney and his wife were arrested today on extortion charges in a bizarre case involving tape-recorded love conversations between the official and a pretty widow, followed by a payoff of more than $27,000.

Joseph Heneghan, 35, an assistant district attorney of Nassau County since 1957 was accused of recording his conversations with Mrs. Margaret Mirabella, 31, a widow with three children, in an effort to force her to marry him when he could get free.

Heneghan and his wife, Constance, 34, have four small children.

The tape recording equipment allegedly used by Heneghan came from the district attorneys office here where Heneghan, a Republican, served under three district attorneys. Dist. Atty. William Cahn, also a Republican, fired Heneghan today.

Heneghan gave the recording to his wife after Mrs. Mirabella refused to marry him. Mrs. Heneghan then went to Mrs. Mirabella and threatened her, Cahn said.

Cahn said Mrs. Mirabella, fearful of being sent to jail for having an affair with a married man, withdrew more than $27,000 from several banks and gave it to Mrs. Heneghan. Mrs. Mirabella told authorities Wednesday.

He added that although Heneghan had no part in his wife's getting the money, he knew about it and did nothing.

Hero Medals Given To 2 Ohio Widows

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has awarded bronze medals to two Bedford, Ohio, widows whose husbands perished after unsuccessfully trying to rescue a fellow sewer maintenance worker. The medals, and death benefits of $100 a month for up to five years, go to Mrs. Gilsolo R. Romito and Mrs. Benedict M. Wolanski.

Romito, 47, was overcome by lack of oxygen while trying to save Vincent Bokanovich, 42, from suffocation last June 9 in the Cleveland suburb. Wolanski then went down the manhole the others had descended and also perished.

Commerce Department regulations deny benefit of the subsidy to the Soviet bloc.

The domestic price is supported above world levels by a farm price support program.

There is nothing in the laws or regulations that would keep the Soviets from buying all the wheat they wanted at the domestic price. Obviously they do not want to pay that much.

A matter to be settled is whether congressional action is necessary.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said action by Congress may be necessary. But Agriculture Department lawyers have leaned in the other direction.

The talks private American interests have been carrying on in Ottawa, Canada, about the possibility of a big grain deal with the Soviet Union have hit some snags.

The Peavey Co., a large Midwestern milling and grain firm, said Wednesday it had sent representatives to Ottawa with the understanding that an Agriculture Department spokesman would be participating. But when none showed up Peavey withdrew its officials.

Ohio County Per Capita Debt Climbs

His annual statistical report on local government taxation and debt disclosed a state average of $253.52, up $7.96 over the previous year.

Lima Sohio Plans Layoff

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The Lima refinery of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio announced today it is laying off 55 refinery workers and demoting 65 others to lesser jobs "to bring its work force into line with competitive refineries."

The plant has had a work force of 396 with 317 of them production workers.

At the same time, Local 824 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, said the layoffs would jeopardize standards of safety at the plant.

The union has proposed a shorter work week to save at least some of the 55 jobs being abolished. The union said the cut would leave only 30 workers to operate the refinery at nights weekends and holidays, in the place of 40 who have been working these shifts.

Crime Probers Getting Data

Convicted Slayer Due To 'Finger' Gangsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mobster Joseph Valachi, 60, came to the capitol today to testify in a Senate crime probe and put the finger on underworld big shots.

The convicted dope peddler and murderer was hustled into a heavily guarded hearing room in the old Senate office building where the Senate Investigations subcommittee was to hear in private what he learned about a nationwide crime syndicate as one of its members.

A public hearing is to be held Friday.

After the closed hearing had been under way for about 40 minutes, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, a subcommittee member, left the hearing room briefly on an errand. He told newsmen Valachi was "talking freely."

Muskie said Valachi was giving a recital of facts, names and events interrupted only occasionally by questions from senators.

Muskie was asked whether Valachi is seeking immunity from prosecution for anything he might say in his testimony. "You'll have to ask the chairman (Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.)," Muskie replied. The subcommittee itself has no authority to grant immunity to anyone.

A squat, brown-haired man in a gray suit, the grim-faced Valachi was smuggled into the office building by a guard of six U.S. marshals, and quickly taken down a long corridor to the hearing room.

This is the first time in about a year the mobster-murderer had been brought out of hiding by the law. Officers believe the underworld has posted a $100,000 reward for anyone who can silence him.

Valachi hopes his testimony will help to topple the leaders of his old crime society, known to its members as La Cosa Nostra.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee arranged today's session to give its members a chance to appraise the story Valachi is expected to tell of brutal murder, crime for profit and terrorism.

Hiking Japan Collegians Visit OU Chief

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Five husky Japanese college students, on a walk from San Francisco to New York City, stopped off at Ohio University Wednesday just long enough to greet President Vernon R. Alden and tour the campus.

While here they also met Ohio University coed Masako Mogi of Tokyo.

The group, all students at Waseda University, began their long trek across the United States on March 16. Group leader Noboru Tajima, a 22-year-old commerce major, explained that the group wanted to "walk this long distance and talk with Americans in every part of the country to study living conditions."

The students plan to visit the White House in Washington as the next major stop, then arrive in New York City Nov. 13.

At Ohio University they were guests of the president, who organized a management course at Keio University in Japan a few years ago and speaks the language fluently. Alden was an interpreter of Japanese during World War II.

Rights Issue Trials Defended

Chief Justice Cites Worldwide Ferment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An atmosphere charged with civil rights issues is responsible for the heavy load of such cases in the U.S. Supreme Court, Chief Justice Earl Warren declared in an unusual defense of the high tribunal.

"Because the very atmosphere in which we live is charged with that subject," Warren said Wednesday night, that is "the main reason we have so many civil rights cases these days."

Speaking to the California State Bar convention, Warren said the civil rights ferment "is not confined to our own country. It is worldwide in its implications."

Warren reminded those who criticize the court for moving too fast on civil rights that it is a court of review, and can't initiate legal action.

He spoke at a dinner in his honor attended by virtually the entire U.S. Supreme Court—seven of the eight associate justices. Only Justice John Harlan was unable to be present.

Warren, a former Republican governor of California, heard California Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson praise the court for its decisions on exactly the issues that others have harshly attacked, such as segregation and school prayers.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown joined Gibson in deploring "vicious slanders" against Warren by "hate mongers." Brown said he knew "that the bar of this state will give no haven to the John Birch Society, which has become nationally infamous in its efforts to impugn the integrity of one of the greatest chief justices in our history."

The 72-year-old chief justice is the target of a Birch drive to impeach him.

Puerto Rico Faces Blow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Residents of the southern coastal areas of Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Haiti were warned to day to flee to higher ground before the arrival of dangerous tides pushed up by hurricane Edith.

At 8 a.m. (EST), the 100-mile-an-hour storm was churning up the Caribbean Sea 175 miles south of Puerto Rico and increasingly heavy swells were racing toward that island.

This afternoon and tonight, following the passage of the hurricane, the San Juan Weather Bureau said flooding could be expected on the south coast and central regions of Puerto Rico.

Dangerously high storm tides, the Weather Bureau said, will reach the southern coast of Hispaniola (which embraces the Dominican Republic and Haiti) some time tonight.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center at Miami declined to predict what course the hurricane might take beyond the next 12 hours.

Farm Science Review Draws Large Gallery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first day of the first Ohio State farm science review, a giant display of farm equipment, science and technology, attracted an estimated 6,500 visitors Wednesday.

The review, which runs through Friday, is sponsored by Ohio State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics, the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Exposition Commission.

Some 119 exhibitors have set up shop on a 30-acre site surrounding Don Scott Field, the university's airport. Bordering the exhibit grounds are some 300 acres of corn and soybeans that will be harvested during the show by participating exhibitors of equipment.

The rest of the 450-acre review site is filled with field exhibits of crops both common and uncommon in Ohio, livestock displays, a homesteaders' exhibition and parking lots.

Field demonstrations scheduled for both today and Friday include corn and soybeans harvesting, plowing and disking, silage harvesting and filling, stalk chopping and aerial application of fertilizer.

Kennedy Plugs For Resources

Water-Conscious West Hears Call for Action

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — President Kennedy argued today that his administration had gone all-out for water resource projects.

The President flew in here today on the third day of his 10,000-mile Western speaking tour after spending the night in Grand Teton National Park in neighboring Wyoming. Next he wings into Utah and Washington.

In an obvious bid to whip up support in the water-conscious West, which voting returns indicate has become increasingly conservative, Kennedy recalled that in the 1960 presidential campaign he pledged "a reversal of the policy of no new starts."

Kennedy said that by mid-1964 "we expect to have approved new construction starts on a total of 211 water resource projects and 182 watershed projects" costing about $4 billion.

This was a direct assault on the Eisenhower administration which, for budgetary reasons, at one point proclaimed a policy of "no new starts" on costly multipurpose water projects involving power, reclamation, recreation and flood control.

Kennedy also noted that in a Great Falls speech three years ago he promised "we would devote the benefits of public resources to the public good—that we would not permit them to be developed for the sole benefit of special interests."

In this context, he said that "in the past three years there have been no Hells Canyon blunders"—a reference to the fact that the Idaho Power Co. was licensed during the Eisenhower administration to build three low dams on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon—in contrast to one, federally financed high dam recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers.

4-Foot Teacher Plans Fun in Class

DARRINGTON, Wash. (AP) — First-grade pupils in Miss Frieda Groenvelde's class can look their teacher squarely in the eyes. She is 4 feet tall.

Being of a size with her pupils bothers neither Miss Groenvelde nor the youngsters.

"Children need an answer," she says. "When you give it to them, that's all they need."

This is her first month as teacher and Miss Groenvelde admits she had the usual opening-day jitters of the new schoolma'am. One boy, clutching his mother's hand, looked the teacher in the eyes and asked: "How come you are so little?"

"I'm as big as you are," said the little teacher as the mother blushed. "Aren't we going to have fun?"

Fun is one of the nice things about being a first-grader here, but there is always order and respect. When Miss Groenvelde mounts her kitchen stool—she

Capitol Hill Spotlight Is Placed on Mobster

WASHINGTON (AP) — In all the 'hub-bub over a possible sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union, a least one element is officially lacking: The big buyer.

Czechoslovakia, a member of the United States on the chance of a wheat deal. But Agriculture and State Department officials insist that the Soviet Union itself has made no move, either directly or indirectly.

However, action of President Kennedy in requesting two House committees to discuss the matter with two Cabinet members today was open to the interpretation that the government had knowledge that an offer was on the way.

The House Agriculture and Foreign Affairs Committees will go over the matter with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

Two farm-minded senators—Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and George T. Aiken, R-Vt.—told newsmen they had heard from commercial and private trade sources that the Communists want to buy as much as 200 million bushels of wheat and a quantity of feed grain.

Generally, it's been taken for granted that the Communists would buy American grain only if they could get it at the cut-rate price at which it is sold to friendly countries under an export subsidy program.

That price is about 60 cents a bushel below the domestic price.

Prosecutor, Wife Held In Extortion

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — An assistant district attorney and his wife were arrested today on extortion charges in a bizarre case involving tape-recorded love conversations between the official and a pretty widow, followed by a payoff of more than $27,000.

Joseph Heneghan, 35, an assistant district attorney of Nassau County since 1957 was accused of recording his conversations with Mrs. Margaret Mirabella, 31, a widow with three children, in an effort to force her to marry him when he could get free.

Heneghan and his wife, Constance, 34, have four small children.

The tape recording equipment allegedly used by Heneghan came from the district attorney's office here where Heneghan, a Republican, served under three district attorneys. Dist. Atty. William Cahn, also a Republican, fired Heneghan today.

Heneghan gave the recording to his wife after Mrs. Mirabella refused to marry him. Mrs. Heneghan then went to Mrs. Mirabella and threatened her, Cahn said.

Cahn said Mrs. Mirabella, fearful of being sent to jail for having an affair with a married man, withdrew more than $27,000 from several banks and gave it to Mrs. Heneghan. Mrs. Mirabella told authorities Wednesday.

He added that although Heneghan had no part in his wife's getting the money, he knew about it and did nothing.

Hero Medals Given To 2 Ohio Widows

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has awarded bronze medals to two Bedford, Ohio, widows whose husbands perished after unsuccessfully trying to rescue a fellow sewer maintenance worker. The medals, and death benefits of $100 a month for up to five years, go to Mrs. Gilsolo R. Romito and Mrs. Benedict M. Wolanski.

Romito, 47, was overcome by lack of oxygen while trying to save Vincent Bokanovich, 42, from suffocation last June 9 in the Cleveland suburb. Wolanski then went down the manhole the others had descended and also perished.

Commerce Department regulations deny benefit of the subsidy to the Soviet bloc.

The domestic price is supported above world levels by a farm price support program.

There is nothing in the laws or regulations that would keep the Soviets from buying all the wheat they wanted at the domestic price. Obviously they do not want to pay that much.

A matter to be settled is whether congressional action is necessary.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said action by Congress may be necessary. But Agriculture Department lawyers have leaned in the other direction.

The talks private American interests have been carrying on in Ottawa, Canada, about the possibility of a big grain deal with the Soviet Union have hit some snags.

The Peavey Co., a large Midwestern milling and grain firm, said Wednesday it had sent representatives to Ottawa with the understanding that an Agriculture Department spokesman would be participating. But when none showed up Peavey withdrew its officials.

Generally, it's been taken for granted that the Communists would buy American grain only if they could get it at the cut-rate price at which it is sold to friendly countries under an export subsidy program.

That price is about 60 cents a bushel below the domestic price.

Lima Sohio Plans Layoff

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The Lima refinery of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio announced today it is laying off 55 refinery workers and demoting 65 others to lesser jobs "to bring its work force into line with competitive refineries."

The plant has had a work force of 396 with 317 of them production workers.

At the same time, Local 624 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, said the layoffs would jeopardize standards of safety at the plant.

The union has proposed a shorter work week to save at least some of the 55 jobs being abolished. The union said the cut would leave only 30 workers to operate the refinery at nights, weekends and holidays, in the place of 40 who have been working these shifts.

Prisoners and Jailer Are Eyeball-to-Eyeball

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two prisoners worked hard Wednesday sawing through a steel wall in City Jail. But when the hole they made was big enough to peek through, they stared straight into the face of Jailer Buford Hill. He had heard their sawing.

Even if Edward Lonis and Sam R. Scruggs had completed the job they wouldn't have gotten any where. Their hole opened to a plumbing-utility room leading only to the first of several locked doors.

Crime Probers Getting Data

Convicted Slayer Due To 'Finger' Gangsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mobster Joseph Valachi, 60, came to the capitol today to testify in a Senate crime probe and put the finger on underworld big shots.

The convicted dope peddler and murderer was hustled into a heavily guarded hearing room in the old Senate office building where the Senate Investigations subcommittee was to hear in private what he learned about a nationwide crime syndicate as one of its members.

A public hearing is to be held Friday.

After the closed hearing had been under way for about 40 minutes, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, a subcommittee member, left the hearing room briefly on an errand. He told newsmen Valachi was "talking freely."

Muskie said Valachi was giving a recital of facts, names and events interrupted only occasionally by questions from senators.

Muskie was asked whether Valachi is seeking immunity from prosecution for anything he might say in his testimony. "You'll have to ask the chairman (Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.)," Muskie replied. The subcommittee itself has no authority to grant immunity to anyone.

A squat, brown-haired man in a gray suit, the grim-faced Valachi was smuggled into the office building by a guard of six U.S. marshals, and quickly taken down a long corridor to the hearing room.

This is the first time in about a year the mobster-murderer had been brought out of hiding by the law. Officers believe the underworld has posted a $100,000 reward for anyone who can silence him.

Valachi hopes his testimony will help to topple the leaders of his old crime society, known to its members as La Cosa Nostra.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee arranged today's session to give its members a chance to appraise the story Valachi is expected to tell of brutal murder, crime for profit and terrorism.

Hiking Japan Collegians Visit OU Chief

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Five husky Japanese college students, on a walk from San Francisco to New York City, stopped off at Ohio University Wednesday just long enough to greet President Vernon R. Alden and tour the campus.

While here they also met Ohio University coed Masako Mogi of Tokyo.

The group, all students at Waseda University, began their long trek across the United States on March 16. Group leader Noboru Tajima, a 22-year-old commerce major, explained that the group wanted to "walk this long distance and talk with Americans in every part of the country to study living conditions."

The students plan to visit the White House in Washington as the next major stop, then arrive in New York City Nov. 13.

At Ohio University they were guests of the president, who organized a management course at Keio University in Japan a few years ago and speaks the language fluently. Alden was an interpreter of Japanese during World War II.

Rights Issue Trials Defended

Chief Justice Cites Worldwide Ferment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An atmosphere charged with civil rights issues is responsible for the heavy load of such cases in the U.S. Supreme Court, Chief Justice Earl Warren declared in an unusual defense of the high tribunal.

"Because the very atmosphere in which we live is charged with that subject," Warren said Wednesday night, that is "the main reason we have so many civil rights cases these days."

Speaking to the California State Bar convention, Warren said the civil rights ferment "is not confined to our own country. It is worldwide in its implications."

Warren reminded those who criticize the court for moving too fast on civil rights that it is a court of review, and can't initiate legal action.

He spoke at a dinner in his honor attended by virtually the entire U.S. Supreme Court—seven of the eight associate justices. Only Justice John Harlan was unable to be present.

Warren, a former Republican governor of California, heard California Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson praise the court for its decisions on exactly the issues that others have harshly attacked, such as segregation and school prayers.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown joined Gibson in deploring "vicious slanders" against Warren by "hate mongers." Brown said he knew "that the bar of this state will give no haven to the John Birch Society, which has become nationally infamous in its efforts to impugn the integrity of one of the greatest chief justices in our history."

The 72-year-old chief justice is the target of a Birch drive to impeach him.

Puerto Rico Faces Blow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Residents of the southern coastal areas of Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Haiti were warned to day to flee to higher ground before the arrival of dangerous tides pushed up by hurricane Edith.

At 8 a.m. (EST), the 100-mile-an-hour storm was churning up the Caribbean Sea 175 miles south of Puerto Rico and increasingly heavy swells were racing toward that island.

This afternoon and tonight, following the passage of the hurricane, the San Juan Weather Bureau said flooding could be expected on the south coast and central regions of Puerto Rico.

Dangerously high storm tides, the Weather Bureau said, will reach the southern coast of Hispaniola (which embraces the Dominican Republic and Haiti) some time tonight.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center at Miami declined to predict what course the hurricane might take beyond the next 12 hours.

3 Civilians Due To Take Over Dominican Republic Control

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — A three-man provisional civilian government was established today in the Dominican Republic.

The military junta which overthrew President Juan Bosch Wednesday said it would surrender control of the government to the three civilians today.

The three who will take over the government are Emilio De Los Santos, Dr. Ramon Tatia Espinal and Manuel Tavares Espailat.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, in announcing the names of the three, said "they are the provisional government."

The rightist, anti-Communist military chiefs had accused Bosch of leading his country toward communism, economic ruin and war with neighboring Haiti.

Bosch, 54, a liberal intellectual, was expected to be sent into exile in Puerto Rico. But he apparently still was a prisoner.

Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, a close friend, had expected Bosch in San Juan Wednesday night. An aide to the governor said he had learned Bosch had been taken to San Ysidro air base 9 miles from Santo Domingo. Bosch's wife and young son and daughter already were in San Juan, visiting Munoz Marin's family.

The Dominican military command said Bosch was "surrounded by all kinds of guarantees and considerations."

The United States suspended diplomatic relations with Santo Domingo and a $50-million aid program. The State Department said, "Any overthrow of a democratically elected government is a loss to the policies of the countries of this hemisphere, including our own."

The Dominican ambassador to Washington, Enrique Del R. sario, cabled the junta: "I will not serve an illegal, unconstitutional government."

He told a news conference: "Some of the newly rich businessmen, who were happy at making a profit under (the Trujillo) dictatorship, have been fighting the democratic government from the start."

The leaders of the bloodless coup summoned Bosch's political opponents to pick a "respectable man" to lead the nation of 3 million out of what they said was a chaotic state "brought about by administrative indecision."

Bosch was seized in his palace before dawn Wednesday. The bloodless coup ended his seven-month rule as the Dominican Republic's first freely elected president in more than 30 years.

Even Bosch's friends, some of whom called him a dreamer, had wondered whether the poet-novelist had the practical ability, after years in exile, to lead a nation released from dictatorship by the May 30, 1961, assassination of Rafael Trujillo.

The military leaders, headed by Armed Forces Minister Elbio Vinas Roman, said they ousted Bosch primarily because he codified Communists. He had rejected a military demand in July that he crack down on leftists.

There also was widespread dissatisfaction with a recent law confiscating properties of all Dominicans who prospered under the 31-year Trujillo dictatorship. The law affected practically every Dominican who had money in a bank.

$22 Billion Said Annual Gambling Take

CINCINNATI (AP)—The biggest business in the United States is organized crime, which takes in about $22 billion a year, says a Justice Department official.

William Fowler Jr., special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, told a group of law enforcement officials that crime has "woven itself into the fabric of the republic." He said no legitimate business takes in as much as the racketeers and mobsters.

Fowler described big-time crime as a national cartel with international connections and said the only way it could be fought was by arousing the people.

As an example, he pointed to Newport, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Newport was one of the places mentioned by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy in testimony before a Senate Subcommittee as one of the places where organized gambling and prostitution were wiped out by local reformers helped by the federal government. Newport's casinos shut down in late 1961 after a reform-minded sheriff won in a bitterly-contested election.

Stock Market Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Further selling drove down stock market prices early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list moved cautiously in early trading, with most changes small.

Chemicals mounted a wide advance, with most gains fractional. This broke up into irregularity as prices in other groups weakened.

Some of the "glamour" stocks recovered a few points of Wednesday's sharp losses as trading got under way. Here again, the gains could not be held and most of these issues showed minus signs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon showed a fairly sharp loss of 1.2 at 279.3 with industrials down 1.8, rails down 4 and utilities down 5.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.85 at 738.84.

story in two interviews with Valachi.

McClellan said he saw Valachi Tuesday and that he appeared to be in good spirits and eager to testify in revenge against syndicate leaders for having ordered him slain as a stool pigeon.

The subcommittee is exploring the affairs of a nationwide crime syndicate known to its members as La Cosa Nostra, and to others as the Mafia or Black Hand. Reputedly, a paper is burned in the hand of a new recruit to the secret criminal society as he takes an oath of secrecy and vows to obey any order, without question.

Deputy Chief Inspector John F. Shanley of the New York City police testified Wednesday that to his knowledge Valachi is the first Cosa Nostra member who dared to abandon the credo of silence in the presence of police.

Shanley said police wiretapping, authorized by a New York law, has turned up evidence the syndicate is deeply upset by Valachi's decision to talk.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Wednesday's first witness, appealed for new laws to legalize police telephone wiretapping and to permit his office to clothe the "less culpable" members of a conspiracy with immunity from prosecution and thus compel them to testify against the higher-ups.

The idea is to destroy their right to invoke the Fifth Amendment privilege of refusing to give self-incriminating testimony.

Ex-Air Patrol Chief Indicted by Jury

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted John O. Swarts, former Ohio commander of the Civil Air Patrol, on the charge of interstate travel to promote gambling.

Swarts, 52, was accused of making 19 trips from Cincinnati to Covington between Jan. 27, 1962, and March 6, 1963, to have "hard cards" printed and distributed to a number of cafes. ("Hard cards" are large sheets used by bookies which list horses and other racing data.)

The indictment Wednesday came as a surprise. Swarts received the service ribbon, CAP's highest award, in 1955 and two years later became deputy commander of the patrol's Great Lakes region. Associates say he is no longer connected with the CAP.

Ohio Sales Tax Take Well Ahead of '62

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sales and use tax collections are now running over nearly $9 million ahead of last year, State Treasurer John D. Herbert reported today.

He said collections from July 1, 1963, to Sept. 21, 1963, are $72,151,417 as compared to $63,260,515 for the same period last year—an increase of $8,890,901.

The treasurer pointed out that part of this increase is due to more timely processing of sales tax returns. Only two counties, Adams and Monroe, reflect a decrease in sales tax collections. The three counties showing the largest dollar increase are Cuyahoga, Franklin and Hamilton, respectively.

Columbus Man Seriously Hurt In Roof Fall

Joseph Rubadue, 27, seriously injured in a construction job fall yesterday at the local Container Corporation of America plant, was reported in "poor" condition today at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Rubadue, a resident of Columbus, fell approximately 35 feet while working on a roof at the new CCA building. He suffered mass chest injuries, a possible broken leg and other injuries, according to a city police report.

P. L. Swank, the injured man's foreman, said Rubadue was cementing joints on the roof. He backed through an opening and accidentally fell, the construction official said.

Rubadue landed on a form being erected as part of second floor construction. He is employed by Earl E. Bright, Inc. a Columbus roofing and sheet metal firm doing sub-contract work at the construction site.

THE ROOFER fell at about 2:55 p. m. He was rushed to Berger Hospital for emergency aid, then transferred to the Columbus hospital.

Rubadue was accompanied to Mt. Carmel by Dr. Manuel Langui and a nurse. Patrolman Richard Blaney investigated for city police.

3 Civilians Due To Take Over Dominican Republic Control

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — A three-man provisional civilian government was established today in the Dominican Republic.

The military junta which overthrew President Juan Bosch Wednesday said it would surrender control of the government to the three civilians today.

The three who will take over the government are Emilio De Los Santos, Dr. Ramon Tatia Espinal and Manuel Tavares Espailat.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, in announcing the names of the three, said "they are the provisional government."

The rightist, anti-Communist military chiefs had accused Bosch of leading his country toward communism economic ruin and war with neighboring Haiti.

Bosch, 54, a liberal intellectual, was expected to be sent into exile in Puerto Rico. But he apparently still was a prisoner.

Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, a close friend, had expected Bosch in San Juan Wednesday night. An aide to the governor said he had learned Bosch had been taken to San Ysidro air base 9 miles from Santo Domingo. Bosch's wife and young son and daughter already were in San Juan, visiting Munoz Marin's family.

The Dominican military command said Bosch was "surrounded by all kinds of guarantees and considerations."

The United States suspended diplomatic relations with Santo Domingo and a $50-million aid program. The State Department said, "Any overthrow of a democratically elected government is a loss to the policies of the countries of this hemisphere, including our own."

The Dominican ambassador to Washington, Enrique Del Rio, cabled the junta: "I will not serve an illegal, unconstitutional government."

He told a news conference: "Some of the newly rich businessmen, who were happy at making a profit under (the Trujillo) dictatorship, have been fighting the democratic government from the start."

The leaders of the bloodless coup summoned Bosch's political opponents to pick a "respectable man" to lead the nation of 3 million out of what they said was a chaotic state "brought about by administrative indecision."

Bosch was seized in his palace before dawn Wednesday. The bloodless coup ended his seven-month rule as the Dominican Republic's first freely elected president in more than 30 years.

Even Bosch's friends, some of whom called him a dreamer, had wondered whether the poet-novelist had the practical ability, after years in exile, to lead a nation released from dictatorship by the May 30, 1961, assassination of Rafael Trujillo.

The military leaders, headed by Armed Forces Minister Elbio Vinas Roman, said they ousted Bosch primarily because he excluded Communists. He had rejected a military demand in July that he crack down on leftists.

There also was widespread dissatisfaction with a recent law confiscating properties of all Dominicans who prospered under the 31-year Trujillo dictatorship. The law affected practically every Dominican who had money in a bank.

$22 Billion Said Annual Gambling Take

CINCINNATI (AP)—The biggest business in the United States is organized crime, which takes in about $22 billion a year, says a Justice Department official.

William Fowler Jr., special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, told a group of law enforcement officials that crime has "woven itself into the fabric of the republic." He said no legitimate business takes in as much as the racketeers and mobsters.

Fowler described big-time crime as a national cartel with international connections and said the only way it could be fought was by arousing the people.

As an example, he pointed to Newport, Ky., just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Newport was one of the places mentioned by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy in testimony before a Senate Subcommittee as one of the places where organized gambling and prostitution were wiped out by local reformers helped by the federal government.

Newport's casinos shut down in late 1961 after a reform-minded sheriff won in a bitterly contested election.

Stock Market Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Further selling drove down stock market prices early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list moved cautiously in early trading, with most changes small.

Chemicals mounted a wide advance, with most gains fractional. This broke up into irregularity as prices in other groups weakened.

Some of the "glamour" stocks recovered a few points of Wednesday's sharp losses as trading got under way. Here again, the gains could not be held and most of these issues showed minus signs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon showed a fairly sharp loss of 1.2 at 279.3 with industrials down 1.8, rails down 4 and utilities down 5.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.85 at 738.84.

New Lawsuit Filed against Mine Union

Anti-Trust Action Claims UMW Plots With Kentucky Pits

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The long, violent strike in Southeast Tennessee has generated a $10 million anti-trust suit against the United Mine Workers Union and West Kentucky Coal Co.

It is the second similar suit—the first, for $30 million, was filed in 1961—now pending in U. S. District Court.

Both actions, in effect, accuse the UMW of conspiring with Western Kentucky Coal Producers to freeze Southeast Tennessee from the market to sell coal to the Tennessee Valley Authority. TVA, the nation's largest single coal buyer, uses millions of tons of coal each year to fuel its steam-electric generating plants in three states.

The lawsuits allege that the UMW has poured millions of dollars in loans into West Kentucky Coal Co., Madisonville, Ky., to finance mechanization of that firm. The company is headed by industrialist Cyrus Eaton of Cleveland, Ohio. At the same time, the suits accuse the union of demanding a nationwide wage so high that only mechanized producers can pay.

The $10 million suit, filed Tuesday, was brought by Tennessee Consolidated Coal Co. and a subsidiary, Grundy Mining Co. Through Grundy, Consolidated has been operating a group of small truck mines despite a walk-out of 600 UMW members which enters its 10th month Thursday.

The court action, which drew no immediate comment from UMW leaders, accuses the union of instigating "mobs, violence, dynamitings and shootings" during the current walkout. This, the suit contends, caused it to fall far behind on its contracted coal deliveries to TVA.

The $30 million suit, expected to be set soon for trial, was filed by a group of independent operators, many of whom lease their mines from consolidated — which owns extensive coal — producing land in this area.

Originally, it also named West Kentucky Coal, TVA and several other defendants—but subsequently was amended to name only the UMW.

LONDON — "I was a fashion model," said the London policeman. "I didn't volunteer. I was chosen."

The specification for the job was: Five feet 10 inches in height with a chest measurement of 42 and a waist of 40 inches. Good appearance. Capable of displaying police uniforms to the best advantage.

"My modeling career began in Scotland Yard's clothing department," the policeman said. "Their master tailor subjected me to elaborate measurements. Then he told me I was perfect, a tailor's dream."

"To encourage me he revealed that British police had been using mannequins since 1857. And this explained their smart appearance. After the model had many fittings, Scotland Yard finally approved the patterns. Then a show was arranged."

Every chief constable was present. The model exhibited each garment on the stage and then went to each member of the audience for close inspection.

"A suit has 207 parts," the policeman said. "And there seemed to be a specialist for each part. They examined the cloth. They tugged to test the stretch. They almost pushed me off my feet."

A specialist in trouser buttons said, "I don't want to see my men in a rough-and-tumble fight with their trousers around their ankles."

"Others checked pockets, braiding, lining, lapels and buttonholes. They missed nothing."

"Then the master tailor appeared again. He marked me up with many chalk marks. I felt like a criminal. I never did discover the meaning of his noughts and crosses," he said.

"This was the basic uniform. Later I modeled the uniforms for all the ranks—from inspector to superintendent."

At the end of the show the chief constable asked the model, "Do you get a lot of this work?"

"No," the model answered. "I'm a real policeman."

"Good gracious," the chief said. "And you let us push you around this way. We all thought you were a professional fashion model."

"I'd rather pound the beat," the policeman said.

Then the photographers took his picture. This was printed in a pamphlet instructing British police how to dress well.

Harsha Reports

Legislation Aims To Ban Cuban Trade

Congressman William H. Harsha, Ohio 6th District, announced today that he had introduced legislation aimed at prohibiting the vessels of foreign countries which allow ships sailing under the flag to engage in trade or commerce with Cuba from participating in the interstate or foreign commerce to or from the United States.

Harsha said: "News that four French ships have entered the Cuban trade clearly indicates how ineffectual the U. S. State Department has been in securing economic isolation of Cuba."

"In April, six free world countries permitted their ships to go to Cuba. In May seven were represented, and in June and July, the total was eight. In August, the number reached nine nations trading with Cuba. And now, the addition of France."

During the period January-July the number of trips to Cuba by these ships increased from 12 to 45 and total trips numbered 259 in the last Maritime Administration report, Harsha said. He added:

"The American people have been given assurances on the one hand, and excuses on the other. We were told this shipping was not increasing, and that it would decrease further. It was on the increase at the time the State Department news release was being issued, and is still on the increase."

"The American people are impatient with subdued, diplomatic activity which does not produce results. They are tired of hearing that ships are under charter, or otherwise out of control of the country whose flag they fly. We have been witnessing flags of convenience for years — now we have a new approach, contracts of convenience."

"The State Department is either unwilling or unable to carry out the announced policy to isolate Castro economically."

"If the State Department won't exercise the firmness that is needed, and it's obvious it won't, then this Congress can be enacting my legislation."

Buffalo Quartet Held In Theft of Clothing

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A man and three women, all from Buffalo, were held in Lake County Jail today, unable to post $1,000 bond each. They were bound over to a grand jury on grand larceny charges involving theft of clothing from a Painesville department store.

Pleading innocent to the shoplifting charges, police said, were Mrs. Shirley Brittain 32; Mrs. Helen Wilson, 37; Mrs. Lillie Ward, 53; and Clarence G. Bishop, 42.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a big difference between urging President Kennedy to keep expenses down and telling him he has to if he wants a tax cut. Some Republicans ignored it, two in particular.

Urging a president to economize leaves him free to ask for higher spending if he thinks it necessary for the nation's welfare. For Congress to put a limit on how much he can ask, paralyzes him no matter what the national need.

For Congress to impose such a limit is a sophisticated form of buck-passing. Congress, not the president, holds the purse strings. He can only spend what Congress votes him. Congress has the ultimate responsibility for economy.

Away back last spring two Republicans, Reps. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin and Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri, were complaining about Kennedy's tax-cut proposal. They wanted spending cut.

Both are members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles taxes.

Byrnes and Curtis got more uneasy and more specific as the months passed and it seemed likely that their committee where Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10, was going to approve a cut.

Kennedy said he wanted the cut to stimulate the economy by giving individuals and businesses more money to spend, even if it meant putting the country deeper in the red for a while by reducing revenue from taxes.

The committee Democrats went along with Kennedy but on Sept. 10, when they approved the cut, they urged him to declare he would go along with the idea that "all reasonable means" should be used "to restrain government spending."

Kennedy agreed, more than once. It didn't tie his hands behind his back. It allowed him room, if he thought necessity required it, to ask for increased spending.

And in his radio-television broadcast Sept. 18 he promised federal spending would be limited to "only those activities which are fully essential to the nation."

This wasn't enough for Byrnes and Curtis. They got time on the air, too, to give their side. Curtis said Kennedy "hedged his promises. Byrnes said Kennedy is endangering the economy."

By James Marlow

Both wanted Congress to write a spending limit into the tax-cut bill.

But Wednesday the Democratic House approved Kennedy's $11-billion tax cut and, while doing so, beat down a Republican motion that would have prevented a tax cut at all unless Kennedy submitted a reduced spending budget for this year and next.

But Curtis had already put his finger on the problem—for the politicians in Congress—when in his broadcast of Sept. 21 he said:

"The tough part is when you get into the business of assigning priorities to good programs. It is tough for a person, particularly one in politics, to say 'no' to a desirable program because we can't afford it and all the other desirable programs this year."

That could be interpreted this way: It would be easier on the politicians, in explaining to the people back home why some "desirable" program was cut or eliminated if they could put the blame on the President instead of Congress.

But all the argument may end in smoke. Although the House approved a tax cut, the Senate may not. If the Senate doesn't go along

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Clear skies again prevailed Wednesday night with temperatures falling to below the seasonal normal in most counties.

Early Thursday morning temperatures were generally in the 40s. However, Zanesville registered 37.

Readings elsewhere included Columbus 41, Cleveland 48, and Cincinnati 42.

A belt of high pressure appears to have established itself across the mid-section of the nation and no change is indicated for Ohio in the next 36 hours.

Ohio can expect sunshine today and Friday with afternoon temperatures mostly in the 70s or 80s and clear and cool tonight with overnight lows averaging in the 40s.

There can be no cut. The budget Kennedy submitted to Congress this year was the highest in history—$98.8 billion.

New Lawsuit Filed against Mine Union

Anti-Trust Action Claims UMW Plots With Kentucky Pits

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The long, violent strike in Southeast Tennessee has generated a $10 million anti-trust suit against the United Mine Workers Union and West Kentucky Coal Co.

It is the second similar suit—the first, for $30 million, was filed in 1961—now pending in U. S. District Court.

Both actions, in effect, accuse the UMW of conspiring with Western Kentucky Coal Producers to freeze Southeast Tennessee from the market to sell coal to the Tennessee Valley Authority. TVA, the nation's largest single coal buyer, uses millions of tons of coal each year to fuel its steam-electric generating plants in three states.

The lawsuits allege that the UMW has poured millions of dollars in loans into West Kentucky Coal Co., Madisonville, Ky., to finance mechanization of that firm. The company is headed by industrialist Cyrus Eaton of Cleveland, Ohio. At the same time, the suits accuse the union of demanding a nationwide wage so high that only mechanized producers can pay.

The $10 million suit, filed Tuesday, was brought by Tennessee Consolidated Coal Co. and a subsidiary, Grundy Mining Co. Through Grundy, Consolidated has been operating a group of small truck mines despite a walk-out of 600 UMW members which enters its 10th month Thursday.

The court action, which drew no immediate comment from UMW leaders, accuses the union of instigating "mobs, violence, dynamitings and shootings" during the current walkout. This, the suit contends, caused it to fall far behind on its contracted coal deliveries to TVA.

The $30 million suit, expected to be set soon for trial, was filed by a group of independent operators, many of whom lease their mines from consolidated — which owns extensive coal-producing land in this area.

Originally, it also named West Kentucky Coal, TVA and several other defendants—but subsequently was amended to name only the UMW.

COSMONAUT IS A DAD—Mrs. Tamara Titov, wife of Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, has given birth to a daughter, the Soviet news agency Tass announced in Moscow. It is believed the first child born to any astronaut after a space flight. Titov made his flight in 1961.

Doomed to Eternal Struggle?

NEW YORK (AP)—“I think of life as a struggle,” said Sidney Poitier, “and a struggle at the core of which is man's effort to fashion order out of chaos.”

“Because he has a mind and a brain, he is predoomed to this struggle eternally.”

At 39 Poitier, a man who says he “had to live in a hurry,” is rated by many as the world's greatest Negro actor.

Although he feels that personally he is the exception to racial discrimination in the theater—“if there is an exception”—Sidney has taken a leading role in the fight against segregation.

“I have to be active in it,” he said, “because I believe that out of that chaos must come social order. And part of that order will be integration.”

Poitier's own life has been a victorious struggle against ignorance and poverty. Raised in barefoot and happy freedom on an island in the Bahamas, he came to this country at the age of 15 after only one year of formal schooling.

Before he joined the Army, which trained him in physiotherapy, Sidney worked as a longshoreman, ditch digger, pin boy in a bowling alley, truck driver, store clerk and parking lot attendant.

It was after leaving the service in 1945 that he decided to become an actor. He set out in an intensive program of self-education, listening to the radio to improve his pronunciation, endlessly reading and studying the dictionary to build his vocabulary.

He worked as a janitor to support himself while taking acting lessons.

“It was lonely work, and I hate loneliness,” he recalled. “But loneliness has been my partner all my life — and still is to some extent.”

“I don't lead a social life. I don't go to dances or night clubs. I am as much of a recluse as I can be and not have it too noticeable. My greatest recreation is doing things with my three children.”

Poitier won recognition from critics in such stormy pictures as “The Defiant Ones” and “The Blackboard Jungle.” In his latest film, “Lilies of the Field,” he plays a low-key role as a wandering workman who comes to the aid of five refugee nuns trying to build a chapel in the Arizona desert.

“I've been the angry young man for too long,” he said. “I want now to do pictures that make people feel glad they're human—and that point out being alive is fun.”

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Battle-scarred American consumers are used to creeping inflation—prices of one thing or another going up here and there from time to time. But talk of a new concerted spurt just ahead may well be premature.

Times aren't that booming, no matter what the stock market says. Retailers and manufacturers are still too competitive.

Recent price rises, mostly of industrial materials or products, are considered too scattered and too tentative to change the present trend — which, alas, is that of still further creeping inflation.

But a general substantial price rise looks dim indeed to most economists, in and out of government, at this time.

Most Americans are primarily interested in the prices on the finished products at the retail level. A few scattered price rises on raw materials play only a small role in setting these.

Much more important in recent years has been the increase in other costs of production and distribution. The government index of wholesale prices continues its largely widespread movement.

The rise of production and distribution costs above the wholesale and raw material levels has caused the creeping inflation both in finished goods and in services. This has caused, and still does, disarray in many family budgets.

But offsetting it today, as in the last few years, has been the chance to shop around for bargains. Manufacturers have too much idle production capacity to raise prices sharply. Retailers have been too competitive for consumer dollars not to offer bargains for those who looked for them.

For most persons then, the word that Detroit seems likely to hold the price line on its new auto models counts much more than a rise in the price of steam condensers.

Prices, like stock prices, doubtless will fluctuate. Increases will be announced. Some prices will be shaved when competition pinches.

Until the economy booms a lot more than it now is expected to, and until excess industrial capacity is all put to work, inflation is likely to be held to its all but chronic state of creeping.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

RARE AND EAGERLY prized by connoisseurs is a good DOUBLE pun. A beauty was perpetrated by a guest at a San Francisco hostelry. Several chess players had formed the habit of staging daily contests in the lobby and a crowd of idle spectators gathered to watch them. The manager, noting that the spectators volunteered plenty of criticism, but never ordered one drink or bite to eat, ordered them cleared off the premises one afternoon.

At the height of the resultant hullabaloo, a lady asked, “What's happening?” That's when the guest contributed his classic: “It's nothing, ma'am! just the manager pulling his chess nuts out of the foyer.”

A man with a passion for yeast was just receiving an order of same in a health restaurant when a clumsy waiter bumped into him. The powdery yeast went all over his clothes. The title of this sad little tale is “Yeast Meets Vest.”

Irving Gosselin called on Judge Ramsey one evening during the dinner hour. “I'm sorry,” the maid told him firmly, “but His Honor is at steak.”

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The lifeline to the health of any body organ — the lungs, the liver, the brain, the intestines, the muscles and the heart itself — is the unimpeded flow of blood in the artery that feeds it. No organ can perform its healthy functions if its blood supply is restricted or inadequate.

The heart is a powerful muscle, whose pumping action distributes blood to every near and distant part of the body. Like any other muscle, the heart muscle itself must be adequately supplied with blood, too.

The blood vessels that feed the heart muscle are called coronary arteries. They are called coronary because they coil around the heart like a crown. They then penetrate deep into the heart muscle, bringing vital blood and oxygen to keep the heart muscle at its maximum efficiency.

Coronary heart disease, or a “coronary attack,” results when the coronary arteries are diminished in size or when they are closed off completely, angina pectoris, which means “pain in the chest,” is the heart's distress signal that its own blood supply is not sufficient.

Sometimes a temporary spasm of the coronary arteries that bring blood to the heart muscle occurs following physical exertion or emotional stress. This causes a diminution of the amount of blood and oxygen brought to the heart muscle and reflects the heart's need for rest and medical support.

This “oxygen hunger” of the heart muscle can also be produced in angina patients if blood is temporarily diverted from the heart to the stomach following a huge meal. Walking briskly against a cold wind has been known to produce this “oxygen hunger.”

One of the major objectives of all medical research has been the prevention of coronary heart disease. When any early symptoms suggest the possibility of heart disease, it is important that the exact condition of the coronary blood vessels be determined.

Substitute Imperialism

By John Chamberlain

The British, in relinquishing their hold on their old colonies, have been exceedingly fair and decent.

But in freeing everything that remains of the old British empire in Southeast Asia to permit the birth of an independent Federation of Malaysia, they are learning that decency has its handicaps. For their fair-mindedness about Malaysia, they have incurred the covetous wrath of those rampant new imperialists, the Indonesians, who want part of the Malaysian territory for themselves. It was this covetousness that pushed the Indonesian mobs to loot and burn the three-story British Embassy in Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia.

Sukarno, the boss of Indonesia, has apologized for the action, but he shows no signs himself of repudiating the rampant new imperialism that stirred ten thousand of his subjects to their incendiary hooliganism. He still wants Malaysian territory for himself. So incidentally, do the Filipinos, who have put in a shadowy claim to North Borneo.

This substitution of new imperialisms for old makes a mockery of the hopes of the world for a new spirit. A united Congo, far from being grateful for help in establishing peace within its own borders, gives sanctuary to a Holden Roberto, who would “free” neighboring Portuguese Angola by clubbing and murdering all those Angolans who would prefer to be led into the future by some other savior. The newly emergent nations of Africa are doing their best to turn the UN into a power mechanism that will interfere in the internal affairs of any member nation that displeases the majority. In Burma, the strong man General Ne Win is repaying help from Britain and the United States by making deals with the pro-Mao Tse tung Burmese Communist Party.

In general, the behavior of many of the new nations, which should be taking world leadership by bending over backward to uphold strict standards of decency and justice, recall the gloomy observation made by old General T. A. S. K. Bliss at the Versailles Peace Conference of 1919: “The submerged nations.” So Bliss wrote home to his wife, “are coming to the surface and as soon as they appear they fly at somebody's throat. They are like mosquitos, vicious from the moment of birth.”

Because of the behavior of the British, the Macmillan government deserves all manner of sympathy. But the United States should temper its expression of condolences with some regretful reproaches. For the British have done very little to help us deal with the Cuba of Fidel Castro, which has behaved toward us very much as the Indonesians have been behaving in destroying British property and menacing the lives of British citizens.

Castro has even invaded British territory in the Bahamas in the effort to maintain his own maritime equivalent of the Berlin Wall. The British finally got around to protesting this act of invasion. But they still persist in trading with Castro, letting ship after ship carry the Union Jack into Cuban harbors. This makes a travesty of the efforts of the United States to maintain an embargo of Castro, whose imperialism is even now threatening the integrity of the British Colony of British Guiana, which will probably be freed only to fall into the hands of Castroites.

time Commission has maintained a blacklist of Free World ships that are trading with Cuba. The names of fifty-three British ships now appear on that blacklist, which makes Britain an even worse offender than Greece, which has let fifty-two ships take goods to Cuba. Our way of punishing Britons and Greeks has been to deny a blacklisted ship the right to carry U.S. government cargo.

This means nothing to the British or the Greeks, who have other ships to send into U.S. ports.

By all means, let us make a united front with the British in opposing the imperialist designs of Indonesia's Sukarno on old British territories in Malaysia. But in exchange, the British should help us to deal with that most troublesome bone in our own throat, Fidel Castro.

Doomed to Eternal Struggle?

NEW YORK (AP)—“I think of life as a struggle,” said Sidney Poitier, “and a struggle at the core of which is man's effort to fashion order out of chaos.”

“Because he has a mind and a brain, he is predestined to this struggle eternally.”

At 39 Poitier, a man who says he “had to live in a hurry,” is rated by many as the world's greatest Negro actor.

Although he feels that personally he is the exception to racial discrimination in the theater—“if there is an exception”—Sidney has taken a leading role in the fight against segregation.

“I have to be active in it,” he said, “because I believe that out of that chaos must come social order. And part of that order will be integration.”

Poitier's own life has been a victorious struggle against ignorance and poverty. Raised in barefoot and happy freedom on an island in the Bahamas, he came to this country at the age of 15 after only one year of formal schooling.

Before he joined the Army, which trained him in physiotherapy, Sidney worked as a longshoreman, ditch digger, pin boy in a bowling alley, truck driver, store clerk and parking lot attendant.

It was after leaving the service in 1945 that he decided to become an actor. He set out in an intensive program of self-education, listening to the radio to improve his pronunciation, endlessly reading and studying the dictionary to build his vocabulary.

He worked as a janitor to support himself while taking acting lessons.

“It was lonely work, and I hate loneliness,” he recalled. “But loneliness has been my partner all my life — and still is to some extent.”

“I don't lead a social life. I don't go to dances or night clubs. I am as much of a recluse as I can be and not have it too noticeable. My greatest recreation is doing things with my three children.”

Poitier won recognition from critics in such stormy pictures as “The Defiant Ones” and “The Blackboard Jungle”. In his latest film, “Lilies of the Field,” he plays a low-key role as a wandering workman who comes to the aid of five refugee nuns trying to build a chapel in the Arizona desert.

“I've been the angry young man for too long,” he said. “I want now to do pictures that make people feel glad they're human—and that point out being alive is fun.”

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Battle-scarred American consumers are used to creeping inflation—prices of one thing or another going up here and there from time to time. But talk of a new concerted spurt just ahead may well be premature.

Times aren't that booming, no matter what the stock market says. Retailers and manufacturers are still too competitive.

Recent price rises, mostly of industrial materials or products, are considered too scattered and too tentative to change the present trend — which, alas, is that of still further creeping inflation.

But a general substantial price rise looks dim indeed to most economists, in and out of government, at this time.

Most Americans are primarily interested in the prices on the finished products at the retail level. A few scattered price rises on raw materials play only a small role in setting these.

Much more important in recent years has been the increase in other costs of production and distribution. The government index of wholesale prices continues its largely sideways movement.

The rise of production and distribution costs above the wholesale and raw material levels has caused the creeping inflation both in finished goods and in services. This has caused, and still does, disarray in many family budgets.

But offsetting it today, as in the last few years, has been the chance to shop around for bargains. Manufacturers have too much idle production capacity to raise prices sharply. Retailers have been too competitive for consumer dollars not to offer bargains for those who looked for them.

For most persons then, the word that Detroit seems likely to hold the price line on its new auto models counts much more than a rise in the price of steam condensers.

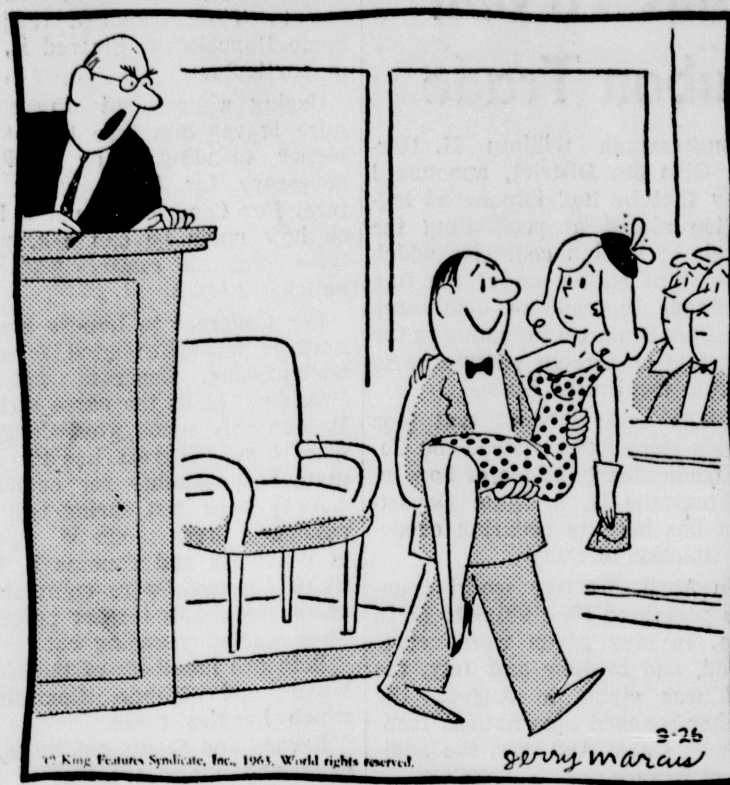

Prices, like stock prices, doubtless will fluctuate. Increases will be announced. Some prices will be shaved when competition pinches.

Until the economy booms a lot more than it now is expected to, and until excess industrial capacity is all put to work, inflation is likely to be held to its all but chronic state of creeping.

RARE AND EAGERLY prized by connoisseurs is a good DOUBLE pun. A beauty was perpetrated by a guest at a San Francisco hostelry. Several chess players had formed the habit of staging daily contests in the lobby and a crowd of idle spectators gathered to watch them. The manager, noting that the spectators volunteered plenty of criticism, but never ordered one drink or bite to eat, ordered them cleared off the premises one afternoon.

At the height of the resultant hullabaloo, a lady asked, “What's happening?” That's when the guest contributed his classic: “It's nothing, ma'am! just the manager pulling his chess nuts out of the foyer.”

A man with a passion for yeast was just receiving an order of same in a health restaurant when a clumsy waiter bumped into him. The powdery yeast went all over his clothes. The title of this sad little tale is “Yeast Meets Vest.”

Irving Goele called on Judge Ramsey one evening during the dinner hour. “I'm sorry,” the maid told him firmly, “but His Honor is at steak.”

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Report Drunken Son?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who would call the police and tell them to pick up his own son for driving in a drunken condition? The boy had had only a few drinks and was not so drunk that he would have endangered his own life, or anyone else's. He was 19, had been driving for three years and never had any trouble with the police before this. Don't you think this is a pretty rotten way to teach his son a lesson?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I doubt if many fathers would inform on their own sons—whether or not I advised them to do so. But if that were the ONLY way to keep a dangerous drunk off the streets—to prevent his death as well as the death of others—I think a parent should ask the police for help.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody started a rumor about me. No one seems to know who started it, but a very good friend of mine told me she heard it from a person who said she heard it from another very good friend of mine. The person who was SUPPOSED to have started it has been a good friend for years, and I don't believe she ever said it. The middle person would be more likely to go back to the person who was supposed to have started it, but I would like to hear it from the horse's mouth. How do I do it?

TALKED ABOUT

DEAR TALKED: Ignore the rumor. The only thing you can be sure of getting from the horse's mouth is a horse laugh.

DEAR ABBY: That woman who warned women drivers against wearing high heels because her heel caught on the rug and jammed the gas pedal, causing her car to go out of control and landing her in the hospital, could have avoided the accident. How? By simply reaching down and turning off the ignition. Women drivers, bah!

New Postage Stamp Honors Mrs. FDR

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Eleanor Roosevelt once said she hated all pictures of herself, that she didn't look good in any of them.

"But" she told a son, "if you have to have a picture, that's the best one."

The son, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., told the story here at the brief ceremony unveiling the U.S. postage stamp bearing the likeness of the picture Mrs. Roosevelt chose.

The five-cent stamp, light purple in color, bears the name Eleanor Roosevelt above the phrase saying five cents U. S. postage. The smiling, cheerful picture and the lettering are in white.

New Postage Stamp Honors Mrs. FDR

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Eleanor Roosevelt once said she hated all pictures of herself, that she didn't look good in any of them.

"But" she told a son, "if you have to have a picture, that's the best one."

The son, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., told the story here at the brief ceremony unveiling the U.S. postage stamp bearing the likeness of the picture Mrs. Roosevelt chose.

The five-cent stamp, light purple in color, bears the name Eleanor Roosevelt above the phrase saying five cents U. S. postage. The smiling, cheerful picture and the lettering are in white.

Rehabilitation of Wealthy Parents of Delinquents Set

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Privileged children of upper-income homes, who amuse themselves with petty thefts, vandalism and party-crashing, are the object of a city-wide cleanup drive spearheaded by Mayor H. Clay Johnson of this Westchester County community.

But to get the job done, says the mayor, the well-to-do parents of the children will have to be rehabilitated first.

"The parents are to blame for this affluent delinquency," Johnson said. "We must restore the respectability of moral indignation."

Johnson, 50, hopes to effect the restoration through formation of a "Rye Council for Youth," to write a code of behavior for parents as well as their offspring.

A group of 60 community leaders held a meeting to square up to the problem. Attending were teachers, businessmen, churchmen, Lions, Kiwanians and Rotarians and Boy and Girl Scout leaders.

They heard Mayor Johnson lay the blame for Rye juvenile offenses on permissive parents who have abdicated their responsibilities for the sake of "status symbols they try to acquire."

"Parents have been bullied by their children into giving excessive privileges," he said.

For example, he said, if two parents allow their children to have parties at home without adult supervision, then their neighbors will permit their children unsupervised parties too.

"They do this to gain status, for fear their children will be unpopular. This is wrong. These parents need a code to permit them to feel they can exercise some discipline."

To the traditional thinkers, who automatically associate juvenile delinquency with slums and broken homes, Rye is a paradox.

The city has no slums; more than 23 per cent of its land is devoted to recreation—parks, athletic fields and youth centers.

Like Johnson, vice president and general counsel of the Royal Globe Insurance Companies, the breadwinners of Rye's neatly tended homes are important men in their organizations.

Their children go to high-priced colleges and finishing schools.

Yet, says the mayor: "There seems to be a complete contempt for adult authority among many youths. Extensive vandalism has occurred. Parties have been crashed. The welfare of the community has been menaced."

Princess' Niece Is Found in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Mary Lee Davis, 15-year-old niece of Princess Grace of Monaco, and a youth with whom she had eloped from Philadelphia four weeks ago, were found here Tuesday night.

Miss Davis, daughter of wealthy parents, had been working as a waitress in a hotel coffee shop and the youth she intended to marry, John Paul Jones Jr., 20, had been selling encyclopedias.

Police said they had been in Des Moines about three weeks, staying in an apartment which a detective described as small but tastefully furnished and well decorated.

Mary Lee said they were not yet married but were in love.

Judy Garland's Daughter Eyes Role of Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ask this 17-year-old what her ambition is and she says:

"I suppose I want to be a star—if being a star means acceptance in the profession. But I would like to avoid some of the things that go with stardom, especially the lack of privacy."

She is a special 17-year-old named Liza Minnelli. Her mother is Judy Garland.

Those who saw Liza's professional debut off - Broadway in "Best Foot Forward" got the hint that the star quality is there. The television audience will have a chance to reach a verdict when she appears on her mother's CBS show in December.

If she comes across on television as well as she does in person, Liza might make it. She has the same elfin charm and ingenious manner of her ma.

Liza's wish to avoid stardom's travails is understandable. She was growing up during some of Miss Garland's stormy years. For Liza it meant a succession of homes and schools.

Liza attended seven schools in California, two in New York and one in England, topping it off with a term at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Hard Work in Whaley Garden Is Pure Pleasure to Owner

It takes more than just "lovin' flowers" to have an outstanding garden. It takes skill, knowledge, managing ability and dedication. But whatever it takes, Mrs. Clarence Whaley, 536 Northridge Road, has it.

The Whaley place is a corner lot comprising almost half an acre. And every inch is planned, planted and groomed with great finesse. Who does it all? The slender, Titian-haired Mrs. Whaley. She even mows the extensive lawn areas. And no riding mower either!

She and her husband landscaped the lot with the expert aid of a Michigan nurseryman whom Clarence Whaley knew. Since the initial planting maintenance of the property has been strictly up to Mrs. Whaley.

The Whaley place, enclosed by a rustic post and rail fence, attracts the attention of all passers-by. The trees and shrubs are still young but oh so healthy! The flowers are planted to give bright accents. Most are near the house or fence. The main lawn areas are uncluttered.

THE ATTRACTIVE low house with its exquisite grill work is just five years old, and landscaping started from scratch. The place has a fine collection of shrubs and trees. And while Mrs. Whaley actually specializes in roses, the shrubs are numerous and well located.

Mrs. Whaley is one of those humans (not as rare as one might suppose) who is completely happy working in her garden. She says she forgets her troubles when she is gardening and thinks only about the tasks at hand.

Actually it is quite unbelievable that this large and smartly groomed yard could be the work solely of Mrs. Whaley. She says she spends from one to two full days a week mowing, clipping, raking and spraying.

The foundation planting is of low yews and hundreds of white petunias accented with red geraniums. The clematis vine at the front door, though no longer blooming, gives evidence of having been completely covered with blossoms.

Shrubs, well pruned and healthy looking, are planted close to the house in many instances. Winged euonymus grows along one section of the foundation in front. Other shrubs are cotoneaster, pfitzer, juniper, forsythia, lilac, deutzia and sweet shrub.

Trees include young maples, red-bud, dogwood, clump birch and several fruit trees. Evergreens grown by the Whaleys are a hemlock at the corner of the house, two blue spruce, and one Norway spruce and a couple of Pfitzer arborvitae. Mrs. Whaley uses botanical names. And she says the vines that intertwine the grill work in back are euonymus vegetatus.

TO THE EAST of the house is an attractive grouping of evergreens and flowers. This includes the Norway spruce and the Pfitzer arborvitae, andorra. It is here that the Whaleys have placed their stone bird fountain, an especially beautiful garden ornament. Around this petunias are planted. The edging is of allium. The Whaley's deer is stationed near the spruce tree as though coming out of a woods.

To the west of the house is a Victorian urn filled with petunias and geraniums to give accent to this part of the yard.

As for the roses — they are without peer. We visited when the blooming cycle was at its best. So all the plants with their choice blossoms and excellent disease free foliage were a sight to behold indeed. There are about 50 roses in all.

Last winter took its toll, but certainly the plants that survived are in excellent condition. The Whaleys have many of the fine modern varieties but none put up a better performance than Duet, a grandiflora near the house. It had 30 blooms.

Climbing roses, some of them blooming now, grow at the Whaley's. On trellises or spilling over the fence are the climbers Don Juan, Van Fleet, Blossom time, Crimson Glory, Blaze, Golden Showers and American Beauty.

Clarence Whaley arrived home in time to verify the fact that it is Mrs. Whaley who keeps the grounds so beautifully groomed. When he was on construction work in Michigan (he's a Repligle man) he used to arrive home for week-ends to find everything in ship-

Most Admired Varieties Listed By Dutch Growers Institute

The 1963 International Holland Bulb selections, for planting now, have been announced by the Netherlands Flower - bulb Institute. The selection is made by an international jury of bulb experts and specialists on the basis of a poll Spring visitors made at the world's largest bulb garden, the Keukenhof, at Lisse in Holland.

The 1963 selections of the "most admired varieties" include nine tulips, a hyacinth and a daffodil. They are: Tulips — 1. Stresa, 2. Red Riding Hood, 3. First Lady, 4. Holland's Glory, 5. Paul Richter, 6. Nizza, 7. Mariette, 8. Rosy Wings, 9. Texas Gold. The hyacinth selected was Delft Blue and the daffodil, Unsurpassable. Descriptions follow.

Stresa has a yellow inside and red outside. This type of marking is characteristic of the Kaufmanniana class of Species tulips to which Stresa belongs. They are still growing wild in Turkestan, and closely resemble water-lilies, so that they are sometimes called Water-lily tulips.

Red Riding Hood, an enormous Hybrid of the Greigii class, is vividly colored in scarlet with black base and an exterior of carmine-red.

First Lady is greatly admired for its lovely colors of reddish-violet and flushed purple. As a Triumph class tulip, it is especially adaptable for indoor growing in pots as well as for use in garden beds.

Holland's Glory is a very large orange-scarlet flower with a black base. Tulips in the Darwin Hybrid class, to which it belongs, result from crossing Darwins with Fosteriana tulips. This class is noted for its huge flowers, generally red, on strong stems; and Holland's Glory is an outstanding example of the type.

Paul Richter is a Darwin tulip of bright scarlet-red. Darwins, which bloom late in the Spring, are the largest tulips, having blossoms as wide as they are deep. Paul

Fall Planting Considered Good Garden Practice

Many home owners are not fully aware that fall is one of the best times to plant trees and shrubs. This includes balled and burlapped evergreens, most deciduous (leaf-dropping) shade trees and shrubs and many fruit trees.

Top growth is finished for the year but the soil is still warm and vigorous root growth takes place, getting them firmly established before spring planting even comes around, say top gardening authorities.

One of the most important points to remember is to prepare the soil well — the plant is going to be in it a long time. Dig a large hole, at least three times as large as you are tempted to settle for, and at least the same depth.

Then loosen up the soil in the bottom and mix in plenty of peat-moss or other humus to lighten heavy soils or add water — holding capacity to sandy ones. Also mix in a generous amount of coarse bonemeal.

Next turn your attention to the soil you took out. Mix in plenty of humus here, too to make the soil nice and spongy. Then add the bonemeal here, likewise, using at least two "father"-size coffee cups to every bushel of soil and about half as much of a good tree or vegetable fertilizer.

If you use one with a ureaform (Slow - releasing) nitrogen, results will be even better. Mix them in thoroughly.

Now, you are ready for the actual planting. Set the plants no deeper than they were in the nursery — the soil mark shows on the stems. Then fill in the soil around the roots until you have the hole half full, tamping in the soil firmly with your shovel handle or, better, with your feet.

Next, pour in enough water to fill the hole and let it settle away. Now you are ready to fill up the rest of the hole. But, don't mound the soil around the stems. Instead, make a shallow basin to hold water.

Level it just before hard freezing and when the soil is hard (if it gets that way in your part of the country) and spread over it 2 to 3 inches of old hay, straw, corn cob mulch, sugar cane, or whatever you can get to hold in the moisture and prevent alternate freezing and thawing, not to keep the soil warm.

One word of caution: it is not safe to plant dogwoods, tulip trees, poplars, most oaks, and magnolias in the fall. In the most northern states also add cherries, plums, peaches, nectarines, and apricots to this list.

The non-competitive dahlia show set for Sunday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds is a novel event indeed. It's to be in the 4-H and Grange Building. Admission is free.

Viewing hours will be from 2 to 6 p. m. Folks may register their entries from noon until 2 p. m.

There will be no awards. Not even ribbons! And fanciers are to bring their best blooms — even if they are not certain as to variety name.

There's to be a section for arrangements featuring dahlias. No ribbons awarded here either! But the management would appreciate it if the county's top notch arrangers would cooperate. Arrangements with dahlias will give viewers an idea of how this flower lends itself to the floral art.

All Japanese flower shows are non-competitive. And very popular! Who would have guessed we had Oriental leanings in Pickaway County.

On hand to receive and help place exhibits will be Bill Cook, William Rhinesmith, Paul Peck and Charles Rawlings.

Something new in hardening dahlias is to cut stems under water. Something else new is to turn the flower underside down, fill the hollow stem with water, place your finger over the hole and put the stem back into water.

The Randolph Wolfes have long been dahlia growers. Sometimes their luck has been good, occasionally bad. But good or bad they love dahlias.

Logan Payne, Fairview Ave., donated some extra special dahlia tubers to the fair board. Bill Cook says they were stolen. He has never been able to find the tubers, look as he will.

Logan Payne is a successful backyard dahlia man. We have been told his plants are outstanding indeed this fall. In fact we saw some.

The Guy Stockmans on E. Franklin have a nice group of backyard dahlias. Stockman's mother-in-law has long fancied dahlias. That's where he got his start.

Dahlia growers with only a few plants are invited to show at Sunday's display. It's for everybody — big growers and small growers alike.

Mrs. Paul Conrad from near Stoutsville paid me a visit for the express purpose of seeing my garden. We thoroughly enjoyed the visit but I was mighty ashamed of my garden. In order that the good gardening name of Saltcreek Twp. might be upheld, I engineered visits to Ed Fetherholt's and Yvonne Drake's lovely gardens.

My friend, Mrs. Turney Pontius, whom I frequently mention in this column, says that she's all the time having visitors. And she says that every now and then when things aren't looking at their best it's quite embarrasssing. Gardens, like houses, can not always be spruced up.

Yvonne Drake sowed a packet of mixed seeds this spring. One plant we noticed was the pale blue thimble flower, Gillia Capitata. It is a modest little plant but the small flowers make good fillers for mass arrangements. Another was the dwarf morning glory, Royal Ensign. This is a bright royal blue.

And speaking of unusual flowers we found clarkia blooming among the annuals in the garden of Miss Louise Stuckey, Route 4, Circleville. The catalogue says of this flower: "for best results clarkias should be kept on the dry side." No wonder this rare flower did well for Miss Stuckey.

Mrs. Viola Hartranft, Tarlton, has a plant that Tarltonians call "star" flower. We could scarcely wait to see this plant when we heard it closed in the morning, opened in the evening, had white star-shaped flowers and was deliciously fragrant. We identified it immediately as nicotiana or flowering tobacco.

Mrs. Hartranft's plants are exceedingly large and lovely. We have never seen flowering tobacco grow more beautifully. The foliage was excellent and the fragrance indeed delicious. She had some purple nicotiana too.

Robert Kuhn, N. Washington and E. High Sts., had some especially big tomatoes. He took them down to Greenlee's grocery to

A volunteer crew, including his sister, stayed on the ground to repack his parachutes — a chore that takes from 15 to 30 minutes.

State Aid Is Hinted In Butler Development

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Butler County may receive state aid in developing its industrial tract in Union Township near Springdale.

Gov. James A. Rhodes conferred with county officials Wednesday while on the way to a plant groundbreaking at Springdale, and the agenda included aid for extending water pipes and sewers in the area.

DELFT BLUE — This lovely hyacinth won for itself a place on the "Most Admired" selections recently announced by the Dutch Bulb Growers Assn. Nine tulip varieties and one daffodil share honors with Delft Blue.

FINAL MEETING — Four local women have completed plans for their part in the First Annual Strolling Flower Show set for Oct. 4 and 5 at 3800 S. High St., Columbus. They represent four of the 65 participating clubs. Pictured left to right are: Mrs. Harold Pontius, Roundtown Garden Club; Mrs. Theodore Huston, Pickaway County Garden Club and Shawnee Arrangers; Mrs. Richard Jones also of Pickaway County Garden Club; and Mrs. Donald Watt, Circleville Garden Club. Hard Work in Whaley Garden Is Pure Pleasure to Owner

It takes more than just "lovin' flowers" to have an outstanding garden. It takes skill, knowledge, managing ability and dedication. But whatever it takes, Mrs. Clarence Whaley, 536 Northridge Road, has it.

The Whaley place is a corner lot comprising almost half an acre. And every inch is planned, planted and groomed with great finesse. Who does it all? The slender, Titian-haired Mrs. Whaley. She even mows the extensive lawn areas. And no riding mower either!

She and her husband landscaped the lot with the expert aid of a Michigan nurseryman whom Clarence Whaley knew. Since the initial planting maintenance of the property has been strictly up to Mrs. Whaley.

The Whaley place, enclosed by a rustic post and rail fence, attracts the attention of all passers-by. The trees and shrubs are still young but oh so healthy! The flowers are planted to give bright accents. Most are near the house or fence. The main lawn areas are uncluttered.

THE ATTRACTIVE low house with its exquisite grill work is just five years old, and landscaping started from scratch. The place has a fine collection of shrubs and trees. And while Mrs. Whaley actually specializes in roses, the shrubs are numerous and well located.

Mrs. Whaley is one of those humans (not as rare as one might suppose) who is completely happy working in her garden. She says she forgets her troubles when she is gardening and thinks only about the tasks at hand.

Actually it is quite unbelievable that this large and smartly groomed yard could be the work solely of Mrs. Whaley. She says she spends from one to two full days a week mowing, clipping, raking and spraying.

The foundation planting is of low yews and hundreds of white petunias accented with red geraniums. The clematis vine at the front door, though no longer blooming, gives evidence of having been completely covered with blossoms.

Shrubs, well pruned and healthy looking, are planted close to the house in many instances. Winged euonymous grows along one section of the foundation in front. Other shrubs are cotoneaster, pfitzer juniper, forsythia, lilac, deutzia and sweet shrub.

Trees include young maples, red-bud, dogwood, clump birch and several fruit trees. Evergreens grown by the Whaleys are a hemlock at the corner of the house, two blue spruce, and one Norway spruce and a couple of Pfitzer andorra. Mrs. Whaley uses botanical names. And she says the vines that intertwine the grill work in back are euonymous vegetatus.

TO THE EAST of the house is an attractive grouping of evergreens and flowers. This includes the Norway spruce and the Pfitzers, andorra. It is here that the Whaleys have placed their stone bird fountain, an especially beautiful garden ornament. Around this petunias are planted. The edging is of allysum. The Whaley's deer is stationed near the spruce tree as though coming out of a woods.

To the west of the house is a Victorian urn filled with petunias and geraniums to give accent to this part of the yard.

As for the roses — they are without peer. We visited when the blooming cycle was at its best. So all the plants with their choice blossoms and excellent disease free foliage were a sight to behold indeed. There are about 50 roses in all.

Last winter took its toll, but certainly the plants that survived are in excellent condition. The Whaleys have many of the fine modern varieties but none put up a better performance than Duet, a grandiflora near the house. It had 30 blossoms.

Climbing roses, some of them blooming now, grow at the Whaley's. On trellises or spilling over the fence are the climbers Don Juan, Van Fleet, Blossom time, Crimson Glory, Blaze, Golden Showers and American Beauty.

Clarence Whaley arrived home in time to verify the fact that it is Mrs. Whaley who keeps the grounds so beautifully groomed. When he was on construction work in Michigan (he's a Repligle man) he used to arrive home for week-ends to find everything in ship-spray program because the healthy plants showed she was abreast with modern insecticides. She says she just watches her garden closely and when it is necessary she sprays.

Well, as we said, here's a remarkable gardener. Whatever the qualifications of a good gardener, Mrs. Whaley has them — which all add up to a beautiful place.

Richter is a favorite of florists for indoor forcing.

Nizza is an intermix of yellow and red, and like others in the Double Late class, it has a round, full peony-like appearance. These tulips are growing more popular but are still unusual enough to stand out in the average garden, where they fit well into bed and border plantings.

Mariette has received three awards. This flower is a deep sat-in-rose and is in the Lily-flowered class of tulips, which are known for being an exceptionally graceful flower, resulting from a cross between the Darwin and Cottage tulips.

Rosy Wings is a radiant pink flower with a white base. It was unveiled in 1944 as a welcome addition to the Cottage class. These tulips are a curious group — some have long stems, others short some have pointed cups, like Rosy Wings; and others have square cups.

Texas Gold, as the name implies is big and golden. It has a narrow red edge and the fringed petals of the Parrot class. The strange, exotic shapes and colors of the Parrot tulips makes them a conversation piece in any garden, particularly when planted in groups of a dozen or more as patches in garden borders. The Dutch have been fascinated by these flowers ever since they were first discovered and described in Holland in 1665.

Delft Blue is one of the earliest hyacinths, especially for outdoor blooming. It is a good garden hyacinth, and unsurpassed for pot and bowl culture indoors. The unusually large, well-filled spike is evenly formed and held above the leaves. Flower bells are delicate and set close together — mauve-blue inside and lighter in the center. The bells, on their outer surfaces, are soft Prussian-blue to a beautiful porcelain-blue shade.

Unsurpassable lives up to its name, as a yellow trumpet daffodil. One of the largest daffodils yet produced, its grand trumpet is

Comedy Is Gusher For Lee Remick

Recognize 'em? They're Lee Remick and Jim Garner, plastered with plenty of "black gold." But—oil's well (if you'll pardon the pun).

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — A glamor gal at last! That's what Lee Remick was rejoicing in the revealing and expensive wardrobe she was wearing in her latest film, "Wheeler Dealers," when we visited her in the early days of the comedy. Then came the deluge! The film ended and co-star Jim Garner "conned" her into doing a six-second scene, a television commercial for the movie. The scene — as per the photograph here — shows them "enjoying" hitting a gusher of an oil well in the film. It was pretty hysterical on the studio sound stage where they staged the "gusher." The next day Garner got a pretty hysterical bill for $50 from Lee — the charges for cleaning her dress and for a new coiffure — minus oil, that is.

The making of the movie was pretty wacky from the start — with the exception of a few days prior to the Academy Awards — when Miss Remick was as worried as any star about the Oscar outcome. "Wheeler Dealers" was her first film since the Oscar-nominated film, "Days of Wine and Roses." And it was her first comedy. What a difference in roles! The serious Miss Remick plays a lady stock broker whose ticker tape measurements are accentuated in an heiress' wardrobe. Along with co-star Jim Garner, she pokes fun at the stock market while giving him a bull-ish run-around. When Jim tries some bearish tactics she cools him off with a bucket of ice water and, as noted, they end up with Texas oil all over 'em. Oh, yes, there's an occasional smooch thrown in here and there to make it all a little legitimate. Yup, it was a nice change of pace for Miss Remick, who admitted to us, "After a string of slatterns, wanton wife roles, and so forth, I was beginning to think my best lines were all horizontal."

Her roles took her from degeneracy to dipsonaria and back via a variety of southern accents which also led her to comment, "I'd forgotten there's an 'r' in our alphabet!" Despite Lee Remick's fragile appearance and her inbred gentility, she's a girl of strong determination. She seldom makes a statement which she doesn't fully believe. And that fragile appearance is deceiving — she works like a warrior.

On screen Lee photographs and acts with a strange mixture of the sensual as well as the innocent. She has thus acquired a varied fan following of both male and female film-goers. Off screen, she is very much the opposite. We have found her to be both the intellectual, penicilline type, as well as the light-comedy conversationalist. She is also very much the family type gal (Mrs. William Colleran).

We tossed off a light, "conversational" throwaway line, "It must have been more fun making this comedy than your usual heavy dramas." But it didn't get the casual, "Yes, indeed."

"Acting isn't 'fun,'" Lee said seriously. "Whether it's comedy or drama, it's the role that counts — and whether it brings a challenge to an actor or an actress. Does it stir up the emotions humorously or tragically? Sure, I enjoyed making this film — and let's not forget those beautiful gowns I wore."

"I also enjoyed having the humor of the script carry over after the cameras stopped turning. There is also less tension on the comedy set. But I can tell you something about so-called heavy dramas — roles which are said to 'tear you apart' can also be 'fun,' Lee said.

As part of the studio's thanks for her part in making "Wheeler Dealers" "fun," the studio gave her the Norrell wardrobe — including the gown which was drenched in oil. Miss Remick packed this wardrobe, and, along with Bill Colleran, took off for a vacation in Europe.

Following her dramatic exercise in "Days of Wine and Roses" we seem to recall Miss Remick retired to her house in the hills, to recuperate quietly at home. Although she got an Oscar nomination, there was no wardrobe from "Wine and Roses" to wear to the Academy Awards.

She may not receive any Oscar bids from "Wheeler Dealers," but she'll certainly be happy in the film's wardrobe — if nothing more. Seems to us, Lee, making comedies — like this one — can be more "fun" than heavy dramas!

New Telephone Book Mailing Starts Monday

Mailing of new 1963-64 telephone directories to customers in the Circleville area will start next Monday, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

The new book features an aqua cover and replaces the yellow covered directory now in use. Any customers not receiving a directory by Oct. 7 are requested to call the business office.

Included in the book with Circleville are the central offices of Ashville, Laurelville, Williamsport and Hallsville.

District Commercial Manager Donald Colegrove reported telephone growth and expanded service has made it necessary to change many telephone numbers, especially in the Ashville and Williamsport exchanges. He encouraged telephone users to check the new book for the number they are calling if they fail to get an answer after the first few attempts.

Colegrove noted that the number of General Telephone listings in the Circleville directory has increased more than 5,000 in the last 10 years, from 7,600 subscribers to more than 12,000. The Chillicothe Telephone Co.'s Hallsville exchange is also in the directory.

The manager called attention to the new "After 9" long distance rates listed inside the front cover of the new directory.

The manager suggests that customers leaf through their old phone books before disposing of them. People often file valuable papers in them.

Customers also may want to transfer their list of frequently called numbers from the old book to the new. Space for such numbers is provided inside the back cover.

Comedy Is Gusher For Lee Remick

Recognize 'em? They're Lee Remick and Jim Garner, plastered with plenty of "black gold." But—oil's well (if you'll pardon the pun).

By ARMAND ARCHER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — A glamorous gal at last! That's what Lee Remick was rejoicing in the revealing and expensive wardrobe she was wearing in her latest film, "Wheeler Dealers," when we visited her in the early days of the comedy. Then came the deluge! The film ended and co-star Jim Garner "conned" her into doing a six-second scene, a television commercial for the movie. The scene — as per the photograph here — shows them "enjoying" hitting a gusher of an oil well in the film. It was pretty hysterical on the studio sound stage where they staged the "gusher." The next day Garner got a pretty hysterical bill for $50 from Lee — the charges for cleaning her dress and for a new coiffure — minus oil, that is. The making of the movie was pretty wacky from the start — with the exception of a few days prior to the Academy Awards — when Miss Remick was as worried as any star about the Oscar outcome. "Wheeler Dealers" was her first film since the Oscar-nominated film, "Days of Wine and Roses." And it was her first comedy. What a difference in roles! The serious Miss Remick plays a lady stock broker whose ticker tape measurements are accented in an heiress' wardrobe. Along with co-star Jim Garner, she pokes fun at the stock market while giving him a bull-ish run around. When Jim tries some bearish tactics she cools him off with a bucket of ice water and, as noted, they end up with Texas oil all over 'em. Oh, yes, there's an occasional smooch thrown in here and there to make it all a little legitimate. Yup, it was a nice change of pace for Miss Remick, who admitted to us, "After a string of slatterns, wanton wife roles, and so forth, I was beginning to think my best lines were all horizontal." Her roles took her from degeneracy to dipsonmaria and back via a variety of southern accents which also led her to comment, "I'd forgotten there's an 'r' in our alphabet!" Despite Lee Remick's fragile appearance and her inbred gentility, she's a girl of strong determination. She seldom makes a statement which she doesn't fully believe. Benis Lutz, president, announced the proceeds from the Jets ticket sale. Two representatives from the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce were present in the interest of the hospital levy for Berger Hospital.

A report was made from the district meeting held at Grove City recently. Plans for redistricting had been tabled until 1965.

Don Forquer was present and received an application for membership. It was announced that the Kiwanis District Convention will be held in Cincinnati on Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 1-2.

The program for the evening was a film entitled, "Safari Through Africa".

The Ashville PTA met in its first session Thursday evening in the school auditorium with Mrs. Raymond Huggins, newly elected president, calling the meeting to order and welcoming the group of parents and teachers in attendance. Mrs. Felix Dore, vice president, announced the newly elected officers of the organization as follows: Mrs. Huggins, president; Mrs. James Wilson, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Morrison, treasurer. The Rev. John Morgan opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Huggins announced that the PTA Membership Drive will get underway on the following Monday with membership slips being sent home with the pupils. A prize of $5 will be given to the grade who has the most parents joining.

It was discussed how the group felt about appointing room mothers to each room. A motion was made that a general chairman be appointed to select and ask mothers to help with each grade. Mrs. Elaine Umsted was named chairman of this committee.

Mrs. Huggins asked that a motion be made that the PTA be permitted to give each teacher in the grade school an amount totaling $10 over the year to cover the purchase of tests to be given to students and any other items, such as books or other teaching aids, that the teacher or students may need. After much discussion, the matter was tabled until a later date.

Mrs. Huggins also stated that baby sitting will be provided for pre-school youngsters on a trial basis at each of the PTA meetings. She also stated that the executive officers will meet each month prior to the organization meetings to discuss problems that may arise. Parents are asked to submit their problems to the officers or bring them to the meetings so they may be discussed in the open.

The first grade won the roll call with the most parents in attendance. They will receive the attendance banner to hang in their room.

Mrs. Dore introduced each of the grade teachers and gave a brief resume of each. Also introduced were the cooks and George D. McDowell, county superintendent; E. R. Gregg, executive head of the Teays Valley School System; and Ed Irwin, principal at Ashville.

No meeting is scheduled for October due to the annual Carnival to be sponsored by the PTA.

Marion Waits, head football coach in the Teays Valley School System, has just released the following schedule of games to be played by the 8th grade football teams of the three schools in the district.

Games scheduled are as follows: Oct. 3, Scioto vs Walnut; and Oct. 8 Ashville vs Walnut.

All of these games will be played on the Teays Valley High School Football Field, beginning at 4:30 p. m.

The winner of the round of play will play a combination of players from the remaining two teams on Friday evening, Oct. 11 at 8 p. m. under lights on the Teays Valley field. All games except the last one will be free to the public. An admission of 25c for both students and adults will be charged on Oct. 11, with the proceeds, being divided between the three schools to help support their junior-high football program.

Over $1800 is in the process of being raised by the Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club to pay for the purchase of these uniforms and equipment for these three schools 8th grade football program. This is the first year for such a program and it is believed by Coach Waits such a program will benefit and help to train these boys for future play with the high school teams.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ANTARCTIC MYSTERY: A government scientist says there is evidence of an unusual "atmospheric pressure disturbance" in the antarctic about Aug. 3, possibly the result of a volcanic explosion or the collapse of a huge iceberg.

The Atomic Energy Commission meanwhile reiterated a statement that it has "no evidence of an event in the antarctic caused by a nuclear explosion."

SIGNS OF CHANGE: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are signs the Russians are beginning to modify their goal of dominating the world.

In an interview on the television program CBS reports, filmed last week before he flew to South Viet Nam on a fact-finding mission, McNamara contended that one sign of change was the test-ban treaty.

He said that unlike Russia, the United States entered the agreement from a position of superior strength.

EDUCATION: The Senate Labor Committee has approved a $1.75-billion college construction bill as well as an expansion of vocational education asked by President Kennedy.

Both Republican and Democratic members supported the measures.

The college bill would authorize $1.5 billion over the next five years for classroom construction at four-year colleges, $900 million in grants and $600 million in loans, plus $250 million in the same period for grants to community junior colleges.

Both public and private colleges would be eligible.

Group Studies Funeral Setup To Trim High Cost of Dying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group of Clevelanders is forming a Catholic Funeral Association as a non-profit organization to obtain "in-expensive funeral and burial services for Catholics in accordance with church laws."

William H. Corrigan, an attorney and one of the organizers, said incorporation papers have been drawn up but not yet filed. He said it would require two or three weeks more to complete organization and confer with diocesan officials.

"I have looked up canon law on the subject and have found nothing to impede the organization of such a society," Corrigan said.

He said the impetus for the association followed recent publication of articles in the Plain Dealer about the Cleveland Memorial Society and funeral directors' comment. The memorial society has 3,100 members for whom it arranges "simple and dignified" funerals costing as little as $200.

The Cleveland society is one of about 90 in the United States. The undertaking business tends to dismiss them as "do-gooders and left-wingers."

But interest in the societies has bounded with the publication of "two books which have caused many an undertaker to shift uneasily under his black suit."

TV books, which reviewers say tend to tear down the mortician's carefully nurtured image as a compassionate friend and substitute a picture of a racketeer in black, are "The High Cost of Dying" by Ruth Harmer and "The American Way of Death" by Jessica Mitford.

Both authors are highly critical of the undertaking business and contend that the display of the deceased has become the focus of a range of gimmickry and hard-selling that has raised the average funeral bill from $350 in 1935 to over $1,000 (including plot) today.

Author Mitford contends that the cult of the prettied-up corpse, put on display in make-believe sleep, is neither reverent nor religious.

But a feat of merchandising. She cites such specialists as the Practical Burial Footwear Company of Columbus which offer Fit-a-Fut oxford and Ko-Zee, with its "soft, cushioned soles and warm, luxurious slipper comfort, but true shoe smartness." Courtesy Products has a "new Bra-form, Post Mortem Form Restoration . . . they accomplish so much for so little ($11 for a package of 50)," and at a recent convention of the National Funeral Directors' Association, Florence Gowns Inc. of Cleveland showed a line of "hostess gowns and brunch coats" for loved ones.

Caskets are now "styled" with an eye to customer appeal. Very strong now in casket styles, Miss Mitford writes, is the patriotic theme represented by "The Valley Forge," once advertised in color in an undertaker's trade journal with some Early American cupboards and a portrait of George Washington. But in countries where embalming is not customary (and contrary to popular belief, it is not legally required in the U.S.), those left behind do not seem to be noticeably worse off. (Although most U.S. funerals are conducted with open coffins, the clergy are generally opposed. "If they had their way," says Stated Clerk Eugene Carson Blake of the United Presbyterian Church, "I think that most ministers would discourage the open casket during funeral services.") Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike points out that while a dead body should be treated with respect, Christian doctrine teaches that it is no longer the person, who "in life to come receives a new, appropriate means of expression and relationship."

Pike recommends that the family's pastor accompany them to the funeral parlor to help them resist whatever pressures may be brought toward overspending. Some undertakers view such clerical counsel with considerable alarm. Miss Mitford quotes advice on the subject from the pages of Mortuary Management: "We tell the family to go ahead and look over the caskets in the display room, and that the minister, if he has come with them, will join them later. We tell the minister that we have something we would like to talk to him about privately and we've found that if we have some questions to ask him, he seems to be flattered that his advice is being sought, and we can keep him in the private office until the family has actually made a selection."

Miss Mitford questions whether under such skilled manipulation how many grief-stricken families have the fortitude to select a plain casket and demand that the undertaker dispense with the expense of embalming.

The answer, says the author, is the growing number of memorial or funeral societies, some of which offer a complete service for as low as $150.

"We only give people what they want," argue the undertakers. But Miss Mitford's rebuttal is:

"Fortified with the deceased," insurance money and sadly out of touch with the spiritual traditions of the past, many Americans search for comfort in the face of death by conspiring with the technicians and gimmick merchants to pretend that it hasn't really happened. This is their right. But it is wrong that anyone who wants to buy a plain wood coffin should feel that is is disrespectful of the dead."

Some clergymen are openly stoking the fire set by Authors Mitford and Harmer. One of them is the Rev. Warren C. McClain of Pasadena, Calif., a Presbyterian who contends that "much of the high cost of burials comes from pagan adoration of the dead. Let's hope reforms are on the way."

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

Sept. 17, marked the annual election of officers of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. The following were elected to serve for the new year: Siebert Duvall, president; Howard Hosler, first vice president; Harold Richard, second vice president; Don Hedges, treasurer. The following were elected to the board of directors: Warren Bastian, Roland Featheringham, Dorwin Hay, Claude Kraft, David Kraft, Dayton Sheets and Marion Waits.

Benis Lutz, president, announced the proceeds from the Jets ticket sale. Two representatives from the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce were present in the interest of the hospital levy for Berger Hospital.

A report was made from the district meeting held at Grove City recently. Plans for redistricting had been tabled until 1965.

Don Forquer was present and received an application for membership. It was announced that the Kiwanis District Convention will be held in Cincinnati on Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 1-2.

The program for the evening was a film entitled, "Safari Through Africa".

The Ashville PTA met in its first session Thursday evening in the school auditorium with Mrs. Raymond Huggins, newly elected president, calling the meeting to order and welcoming the group of parents and teachers in attendance. Mrs. Felix Dore, vice president, announced the newly elected officers of the organization as follows: Mrs. Huggins, president; Mrs. James Wilson, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Morrison, treasurer. The Rev. John Morgan opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Huggins announced that the PTA Membership Drive will get underway on the following Monday with membership slips being sent home with the pupils. A prize of $5 will be given to the grade who has the most parents joining.

It was discussed how the group felt about appointing room mothers to each room. A motion was made that a general chairman be appointed to select and ask mothers to help with each grade. Mr. S. Elaine Umsted was named chairman of this committee.

Mrs. Huggins asked that a motion be made that the PTA be permitted to give each teacher in the grade school an amount totaling $10 over the year to cover the purchase of tests to be given to students and any other items, such as books or other teaching aids, that the teacher or students may need. After much discussion, the matter was tabled until a later date.

Mrs. Huggins also stated that baby sitting will be provided for pre-school youngsters on a trial basis at each of the PTA meetings. She also stated that the executive officers will meet each month prior to the organization meetings to discuss problems that may arise. Parents are asked to submit their problems to the officers or bring them to the meetings so they may be discussed in the open.

The first grade won the roll call with the most parents in attendance. They will receive the attendance banner to hang in their room.

Mrs. Dore introduced each of the grade teachers and gave a brief resume of each. Also introduced were the cooks and George D. McDowell, county superintendent; E. R. Gregg, executive head of the Teays Valley School System; and Ed Irwin, principal at Ashville.

No meeting is scheduled for October due to the annual Carnival to be sponsored by the PTA.

The students of Teays Valley High School selected their class officers this past Friday to serve during this school term. Those elected were as follows: freshmen: Ronald Leatherwood, president; Stephen Puckett, vice president; Nancy Collins, secretary; Jill Butt treasurer; and Johnny Reese, news reporter.

Sophomores: Gerald Hill, president; William Dore, vice president; Nina Ryan, Secretary; Warren Kinsell, Jr., treasurer; and Gary Wilson, news reporter.

Juniors: Mitchell Clay, president; Ricky Ford, vice president; Marilyn Younklin, secretary; Bonnie Forquer, treasurer; and Carol Balthaser, news reporter.

Seniors: John Ridenour, president; Barbara Blue, vice president; Patty Gray, secretary; Barbara Brown, treasurer; and James Peters, news reporter.

A Homemaking-Get-Together is being planned and made ready for the women of the community starting Oct. 2 and continuing each Wednesday through Oct. from 9:15 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. each morning.

The sessions will be held in the Ashville Methodist Church, free of charge, and child care will be provided for pre-school children above 2½ years.

The different areas to be covered and their instructors are as follows: food, taught by Mrs. Frank Morrison; clothing, taught by Mrs. Harry Rife; interior decoration, taught by Mrs. Richard Snider; child development, taught by Mrs. William Sherezt; and Art as a hobby, taught by Mrs. Warren Bastian.

Interested persons who would like to obtain a registration form, may do so by calling one of the above instructors.

Billy Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Hines, underwent nose surgery Friday in Children's Hospital Columbus and is reported to be improving nicely. He is expected to be returned to his home Wednesday of this week.

The Mary-Martha Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. C. J. Rockey.

Marion Waits, head football coach in the Teays Valley School System, has just released the following schedule of games to be played by the 8th grade football teams of the three schools in the district.

Games scheduled are as follows: Oct. 3, Scioto vs Walnut; and Oct. 8 Ashville vs Walnut.

All of these games will be played on the Teays Valley High School Football Field, beginning at 4:30 p. m.

The winner of the round of play will play a combination of players from the remaining two teams on Friday evening, Oct. 11 at 8 p. m. under lights on the Teays Valley field. All games except the last one will be free to the public. An admission of 25c for both students and adults will be charged on Oct. 11, with the proceeds, being divided between the three schools to help support their junior-high football program.

Over $1800 is in the process of being raised by the Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club to pay for the purchase of these uniforms and equipment for these three schools 8th grade football program. This is the first year for such a program and it is believed by Coach Waits such a program will benefit and help to train these boys for future play with the high school teams.

Mrs. Herman Petty, fifth grade teacher at Ashville Elementary School, underwent surgery Friday in Mercy Hospital. Substituting for Mrs. Petty is Mrs. Harry Trego, a former fifth grade teacher at Ashville.

The Past Chiefs of District No. 2 will meet Sept. 30 in the Ashville K.P. Hall. A potluck dinner will be at 7 p. m. with entertainment following a short business session. Mrs. Hugh Huffer of Amanda is president of the group and Mrs. Frank Baum, Ashville, is secretary.

With the Ashville Club as hostesses, Mrs. Everett Peters, president, has appointed the following committees: hospitality — Mrs. Eveline Zwyer and Mrs. Edith Hudson; kitchen — Mrs. Gladys Rush, Mrs. Thurcy Costlow, and Mrs. Charlotte Rife; dining room Mrs. Marilyn Sabine, Mrs. Mona Morrison, and Mrs. Carolyn Pritchard.

Each member is asked to bring a gift for prizes.

Youth of the Ashville and Hedges Chapel Methodist Churches are reminded of the Methodist Youth Fellowship Fall Rally to be held Sunday from 2:30 to 5 p. m. at the Lancaster First Methodist Church.

Mrs. John Sabine and Mrs. Art Deal Jr., from the Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Assn. were present Monday afternoon for the chartering meeting of the newly formed Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council held at the Columbus Jewish Center.

Mrs. Hewitt Cromley, Route 2, Ashville, was installed as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Council.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

ANTARCTIC MYSTERY: A government scientist says there is evidence of an unusual "atmospheric pressure disturbance" in the antarctic about Aug. 3, possibly the result of a volcanic explosion or the collapse of a huge iceberg.

The Atomic Energy Commission meanwhile reiterated a statement that there is "no evidence of an event in the antarctic caused by a nuclear explosion."

SIGNS OF CHANGE: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says there are signs the Russians are beginning to modify their goal of dominating the world.

In an interview on the television program CBS reports, filmed last week before he flew to South Viet Nam on a fact-finding mission, McNamara contended that one sign of change was the test-ban treaty.

He said that unlike Russia, the United States entered the agreement from a position of superior strength.

EDUCATION: The Senate Labor Committee has approved a $1.75-billion college construction bill as well as an expansion of vocational education asked by President Kennedy.

Both Republican and Democratic members supported the measures.

The college bill would authorize $1.5 billion over the next five years for classroom construction at four-year colleges, $900 million in grants and $600 million in loans, plus $250 million in the same period for grants to community junior colleges.

Both public and private colleges would be eligible.

Bankers' Meet Planned Tuesday

Group Studies Funeral Setup To Trim High Cost of Dying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group of Clevelanders is forming a Catholic Funeral Association as a non-profit organization to obtain "in-expensive funeral and burial services for Catholics in accordance with church laws."

William H. Corrigan, an attorney and one of the organizers, said incorporation papers have been drawn up but not yet filed. He said it would require two or three weeks more to complete organization and confer with diocesan officials.

"I have looked up canon law on the subject and have found nothing to impede the organization of such a society," Corrigan said.

He said the impetus for the association followed recent publication of articles in the Plain Dealer about the Cleveland Memorial Society and funeral directors' comment. The memorial society has 3,100 members for whom it arranges "simple and dignified" funerals costing as little as $200.

The Cleveland society is one of about 90 in the United States. The undertaking business tends to dismiss them as "do-gooders and left-wingers."

But interest in the societies has bounded with the publication of "two books which have caused many an undertaker to shift uneasily under his black suit."

TV books, which reviewers say tend to tear down the mortician's carefully nurtured image as a compassionate friend and substitute a picture of a racketeer in black, are "The High Cost of Dying" by Ruth Harner and "The American Way of Death" by Jessica Mitford.

Both authors are highly critical of the undertaking business and contend that the display of the deceased has become the focus of a range of gimmickry and hard-selling that has raised the average funeral bill from $350 in 1935 to over $1,000 (including plot) today.

Author Mitford contends that the cult of the prettied-up corpse, put on display in make-believe sleep, is neither reverent nor religious, but a feat of merchandising. She cites such specialists as the Practical Burial Footwear Company of Columbus which offer Fit-a-Fut oxford and Ko-Zee, with its "soft, cushioned soles and warm, luxurious slipper comfort, but true shoe smartness."

Courtesy Products has a "new Bra-form, Post Mortem Form Restoration . . . they accomplish so much for so little ($11 for a package of 50,)" and at a recent convention of the National Funeral Directors' Association, Florence Gowns Inc. of Cleveland showed a line of "hostess gowns and brunch coats" for loved ones.

Second Step Eyed In Russ Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the test-ban treaty safely through the Senate, administration leaders were reported cautiously hopeful today that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will be ready soon to negotiate on a "second step" to reduce dangers of nuclear war.

The same pressures believed to have influenced Khrushchev's decision to sign the limited ban on nuclear weapons testing are still present. Thus U. S. experts think Khrushchev may see further need to improve his relations with the Western powers.

These pressures include the bitter and growing differences between the Soviet Union and Red China and the apparently severe crop failure in the Soviet Union this year which makes Khrushchev partially dependent on Western sources for wheat and other food grains.

Furthermore, U. S. officials believe that after the Cuban missile showdown last October Khrushchev decided the danger of nuclear war had been so great that steps toward minimizing future risks of worldwide destruction were necessary.

Possible next steps include proposals which Khrushchev himself has made for an East-West non-aggression pact and for the stationing of observers on both sides of the Iron Curtain to guard against surprise attack.

Of the two propositions, U. S. authorities think agreement on the observer plan is more likely because the nonaggression proposal has been tied by the Western powers to counterproposals for greater security for West Berlin. The test-ban treaty cleared the Senate Tuesday by an 80-19 vote. It will prohibit all but underground testing.

President Kennedy called the pact "a single but substantial step in the direction of peace." Secretary of State Dean Rusk has characterized it as a "first step" with the implication there must be other steps if Soviet-Western relations are to continue to improve.

So far, Khrushchev has shown no pressing interest in proceeding urgently with further negotiations. Several reasons have been advanced for this in official Washington.

Khrushchev may have wanted to be sure the treaty would win Senate ratification before proceeding with further measures. He may also have decided that urging consideration of other issues during the Senate debate might complicate matters.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork and chickens will be cheaper in many supermarkets this weekend as fall marketing pressures force prices down.

Beef and turkey will be slightly lower. Some shops have specials on lamb.

Not only are main-course prospects bright, but most areas still have a wide range of fresh vegetables at near-seasonal lows.

Pork features include both fresh and cured varieties.

Beef buys abound in some areas, with chuck and round cuts especially inviting. Several stores have features on liver, corned beef and ground beef.

Other protein offerings currently lower priced include tuna, peanut butter, sardines and dairy products.

Vegetable features include green beans, cabbage, carrots, Cauliflower, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, radishes, tomatoes and squash.

Grapes and apples continue to lead the fruit parade, with honeydew melons big features in many sections. Pears, dates, cranberries and grapefruit are appearing in increasing volume.

Rice and edible oils are other attractions this week and the pecan crop shows signs of being a whopper.

Guatemalan Editor Writes For Enlightenment of Censor

GUATEMALA (AP)—The desk of Clemente Marroquin Rojas, peppy editor of the newspaper La Hora, is cluttered with unpublished antigovernment editorials.

He turns out a new one every day. At the end of each he invariably adds a line: "Because I know this will not be approved for publication, may it serve to enlighten the censor."

La Hora is the only newspaper with a censor in all Guatemala. The other newspapers, warned by the government not to publish anything critical of it, practice a form of self-censorship. When it came down to the fiery Marroquin Rojas, however, it was like asking Niagara to hush up.

The editor represents one sector of resistance to a 6-months-old military regime which many Guatemalans fear is turning into a long-playing dictatorship.

"We have a brand new, bubbly volcano—right in the presidential palace," says a Guatemalan politician, now idle. "We're wondering just when it'll erupt."

A taciturn, career military officer, Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdue, calls signals, as chief of government. The army stepped in March 30 to boot out President Miguel Ydigoras who was in the last stages of a six-year term, called by Guatemalans the most corrupt in their history.

The army has shown no sign of relinquishing power. Col. Peralta once mentioned a period of two years before elections, but has not recently reaffirmed that.

The government has undertaken administrative and fiscal reforms but there is widespread apprehension about accompanying measures that liquidated almost all vestige of constitutional guarantees, including the inviolability of home and person and the right of expression. People are living under a state of siege, a modified form of martial law.

A new law says that after four years cotton growers must devote land to other crops to protect the soil. They contend the law will destroy their thriving business.

Owners of sugar mills were ordered to pay an arbitrary price to cane growers after the Ministry of Agriculture could not solve the problem.

In these and other measures, many Guatemalans have seen the fine hand of experienced politicians working with the military in the transition from a strong military machine to a powerful civilian apparatus of the future.

Tomorrow... Jet-smooth Luxury '64 CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan—one of 16 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolets.

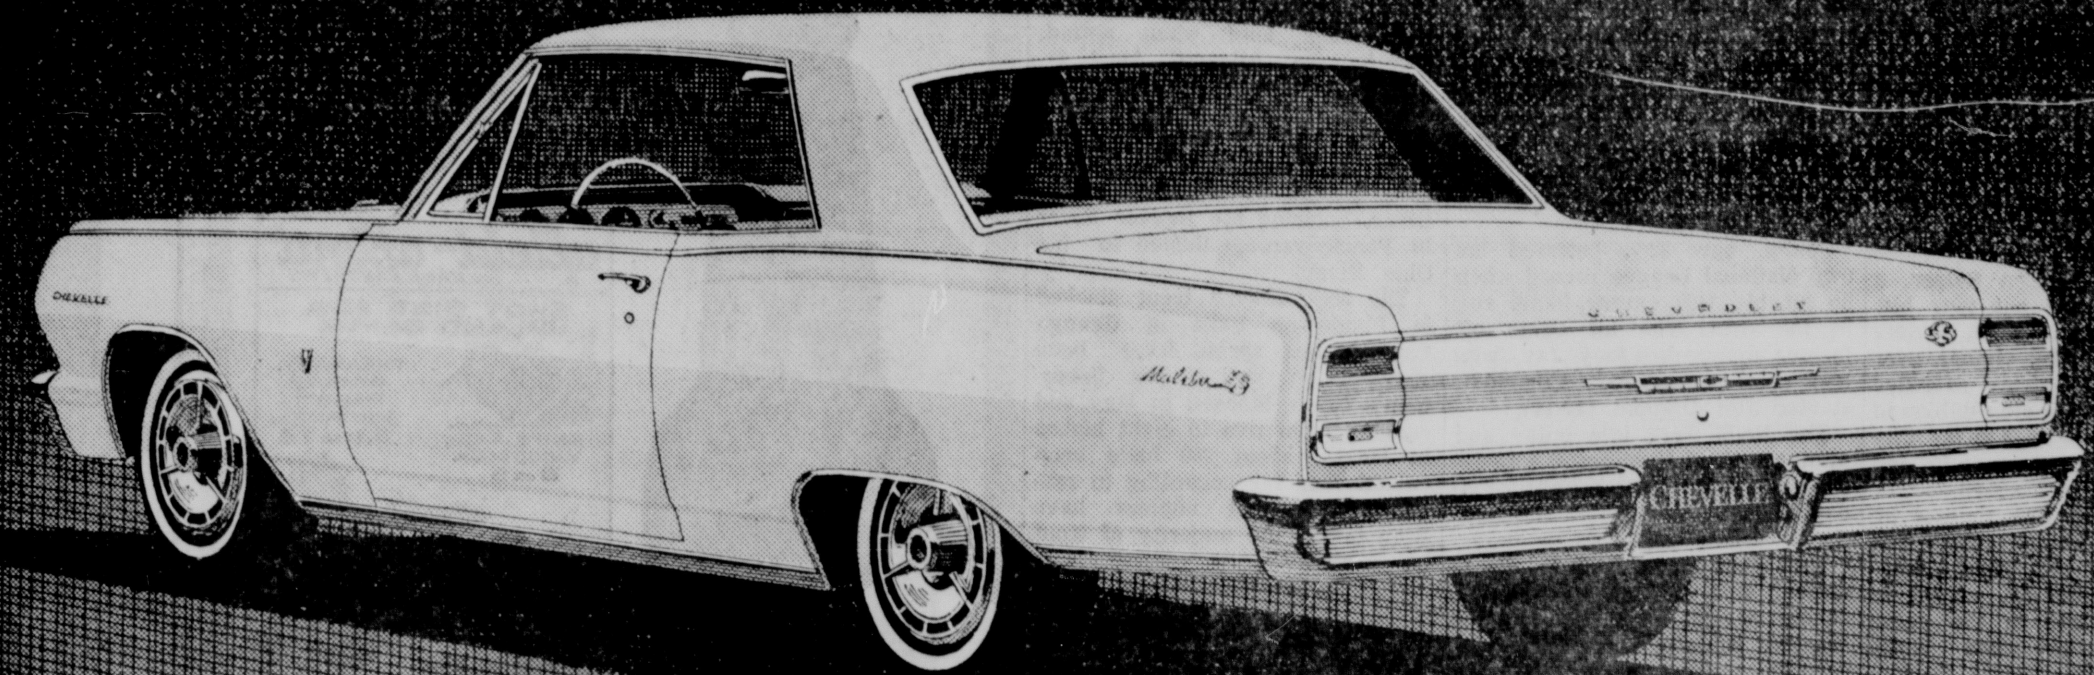

Chevrolet was luxurious before, but you should see it now. With smart new styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new series this year—the Impala Super Sports—with front bucket seats as standard equipment. (The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). And quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delco-tron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-upkeep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options there are to choose from—that's entirely up to you.

Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe—one of 11 models in three great series.

You've never seen anything like this totally new line of cars before. Chevelle is new in everything but Chevrolet quality. Chevelle is a good foot shorter than the big cars, so it parks easily. Yet the interior of its Body by Fisher gives you a generous supply of passenger and luggage room. The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprisingly for Chevrolet, the new Chevelle offers a choice of engines ranging from an economical 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp

V8 (optional at extra cost). Choose the Chevelle you like best from the three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series, eleven models in all—at your Chevrolet dealer's. (This good-looking Malibu Super Sport maybe?)

Of the two propositions, U. S. authorities think agreement on the observer plan is more likely because the nonaggression proposal has been tied by the Western powers to counterproposals for greater security for West Berlin. The test-ban treaty cleared the Senate Tuesday by an 80-19 vote. It will prohibit all but underground testing.

President Kennedy called the pact "a single but substantial step in the direction of peace." Secretary of State Dean Rusk has characterized it as a "first step" with the implication there must be other steps if Soviet-Western relations are to continue to improve.

So far, Khrushchev has shown no pressing interest in proceeding urgently with further negotiations. Several reasons have been advanced for this in official Washington.

Khrushchev may have wanted to be sure the treaty would win Senate ratification before proceeding with further measures. He may also have decided that urging consideration of other issues during the Senate debate might complicate matters.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Edith Robb, 38, has been sentenced to 1-20 years in the state reformatory for women for killing one of her eight children.

Mrs. Robb pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter charges Wednesday. Court officials said she strangled her newborn son last June 18.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork and chickens will be cheaper in many supermarkets this weekend as fall marketing pressures force prices down.

Beef and turkey will be slightly lower. Some shops have specials on lamb.

Not only are main-course products bright, but most areas still have a wide range of fresh vegetables at near-seasonal lows.

Pork features include both fresh and cured varieties.

Beef buys abound in some areas, with chuck and round cuts especially inviting. Several stores have features on liver, corned beef and ground beef.

Other protein offerings currently lower priced include tuna, peanut butter, sardines and dairy products.

Vegetable features include green beans, cabbage, carrots, Cauliflower, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, radishes, tomatoes and squash.

Grapes and apples continue to lead the fruit parade, with honeydew melons big features in many sections. Pears, dates, cranberries and grapefruit are appearing in increasing volume.

Rice and edible oils are other attractions this week and the pecan crop shows signs of being a whopper.

Guatemalan Editor Writes For Enlightenment of Censor

GUATEMALA (AP)—The desk of Clemente Marroquin Rojas, peppy editor of the newspaper La Hora, is cluttered with unpublished antigovernment editorials.

He turns out a new one every day. At the end of each he invariably adds a line: "Because I know this will not be approved for publication, may it serve to enlighten the censor."

La Hora is the only newspaper with a censor in all Guatemala. The other newspapers, warned by the government not to publish anything critical of it, practice a form of self-censorship. When it came down to the fiery Marroquin Rojas, however, it was like asking Niagara to hush up.

The editor represents one sector of resistance to a 6-months-old military regime which many Guatemalans fear is turning into a long-playing dictatorship.

"We have a brand new, bubbly volcano—right in the presidential palace," says a Guatemalan politician, now idle. "We're wondering just when it'll erupt."

A taciturn, career military officer, Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdie, calls signals, as chief of government. The army stepped in March 30 to boot out President Miguel Ydigoras who was in the last stages of a six-year term, called by Guatemalans the most corrupt in their history.

The army has shown no sign of relinquishing power. Col. Peralta once mentioned a period of two years before elections, but has not recently reaffirmed that.

The government has undertaken administrative and fiscal reforms but there is widespread apprehension about accompanying measures that liquidated almost all vestige of constitutional guarantees, including the inviolability of home and person and the right of expression. People are living under a state of siege, a modified form of martial law.

A new law says that after four years cotton growers must devote land to other crops to protect the soil. They contend the law will destroy their thriving business.

Owners of sugar mills were ordered to pay an arbitrary price to cane growers after the Ministry of Agriculture could not solve the problem.

In these and other measures, many Guatemalans have seen the fine hand of experienced politicians working with the military in the transition from a strong military machine to a powerful civilian apparatus of the future.

Mays Goes Off On Hit Binge, Seeks NL Title

Willie Gets 4-for-4 To Bring Average Up To .317 behind Davis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Watch Willie Mays, baseball's bounciest convalescent. He may be the first guy to win a batting title with an off-year.

The San Francisco Giants' center fielder, who fought through a protracted slump and then was forced into a four-game layoff with nervous exhaustion early this month, is on a hitting streak.

Willie went 4-for-4 Wednesday—a triple, two doubles and a single—although the Giants were beaten by Philadelphia 6-4, and powered himself right into the middle of the scrap for the National League batting title.

Mays was hitting .301 when he was sidelined, and in a phenomenal climb since then he has raised his average to .317. He's currently on a 13-game hitting streak, 25-for-53 and a .472 clip.

Ahead of Mays in the scramble for the batting crown are:

Defending champion Tommy Davis of the pennant-winning Los Angeles Dodgers—he's at .323 after two singles in three trips in a 1-0 triumph over the New York Mets. Sandy Koufax won his 25th in that one, and became the fourth pitcher in major league history to strike out 300 in one season.

Dick Groat of St. Louis—batting .320 after two hits in five tries as the second-place Cardinals ended a six-game losing string by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

Orlando Cepeda of the Giants—whacked a three-run homer in four appearances and has a .319 mark. His blow was matched by a three-run pinch hit homer by Don Demeter and a two-run shot by Johnny Callison in a seventh-inning rally that gave the Phils the victory.

Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves—got his 43rd homer for a .318 average, helping Warren Spahn beat the Cincinnati Reds 9-5. Spahn, 22-7 for the year and with 349 victories in a magnificent career, also homered.

And Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates—went 1-for-4 in a 2-1 defeat at Houston and slipped to .318. The Phils took this one with a two-run uprising in the seventh after being blanked on two hits by Tom Sisk through six.

New York's American League champion Yankees took only one hour and 38 minutes to dispose of the Los Angeles Angels 3-1. Hard-throwing Jim Bouton warmed up for a World Series start with a seven-inning workout for his 21st victory, allowing three hits and facing only 15 men in his last five innings.

Bob Saverine, in his last game before starting a six-month Army hitch, got three hits and batted in two runs in leading Baltimore to a 10-2 romp over Chicago. White Sox rookie Gary Peters was rocked in his bid to become a 20-game winner.

Also in the AL—Ken Retzer, a .227 batter, rapped out four hits and knocked in five runs, leading Washington to a 6-2 victory over Detroit, and Ed Charles' sacrifice fly in the seventh inning delivered the clinching run as Kansas City edged Boston 7-6. Minnesota and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Koufax worked five shutout innings in the Dodgers' close one over the Mets, with eight strikeouts extending his NL record to 306. The lone run in the game came in the first when Wally Moon and Tommy Davis singled, and Moon scored on a wild pickoff attempt by Roger Craig.

Indians Put Hope In Rookie Hurler

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians start on the end of the 1963 baseball trail tonight—and southpaw Tommy John is seeking his first major league triumph.

John is manager Birdie Tebbetts' mound choice in the opener of the four-game final series with the Kansas City Athletics. His opponent will be Moe Drabowsky, a veteran who has a 7-12 record.

John has lost his only two starts, both against Los Angeles. He's pitched in five games and in 14 1-3 innings has a respectable 2.51 earned run average.

The Indians still have a slim chance for fifth place, trailing the Detroit Tigers by 1½ games.

Rowdy Youths Put Curbs on Night Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of America's most cherished traditions—the Friday or Saturday night high school football game—may become passe because of the growth of rowdiness and vandalism among the spectators.

The seriousness of the situation was highlighted recently when the city and Board of Education officials in Toledo, Ohio, and Milwaukee announced that all night games involving high school teams were being abandoned.

The schools were ordered to play in the afternoon.

The Toledo action was taken after a series of fights broke out following a Friday night game.

Four policemen were hurt in the disturbance. The Milwaukee City Council switched all games to Saturday afternoon because of what it called "unwarranted attacks and acts of vandalism."

Officials said no racial or religious problems apparently were involved.

Night high school play was banned in Providence, R.I., where officials said a major factor was "rowdiness, fights and vandalism."

Bridgeport, Conn., ended night high school games after a 14-year-old boy was stabbed. Chicago cut out night football games for public high schools in 1954.

In New York, where there are hundreds of high schools, only about three per cent play games at night and these are almost always at the suggestion of an outside rival. To play a night game, it is necessary to get special permission from the school board—given only when trouble is not likely to occur.

Redlegs Seek To Share in Series Loot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The fifth-place Cincinnati Reds came to St. Louis today hoping to regain their hopes for a share of world series money at the expense of the Cardinals.

Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves trounced the Reds, 9-5, Wednesday night despite a rally that started with two out in the eighth inning.

At that time the score was 9 despite seven Cincinnati hits off the 42-year-old left-hander.

Spahn then walked Frank Robinson and Don Pavletich connected with his fifth home run.

That wasn't all. Tommy Harper singled and scored ahead of Leo Cardenas' seventh homer.

The Reds picked up their last run in the ninth on Pete Rose's leadoff double and Robinson's single.

Milwaukee did its scoring early. Its first run came on Eddie Mathews' lead-off homer in the second inning. Henry Aaron drove in three more in the next inning with his 43rd homer.

Spahn, now 22-7, bettered his own National League record when he hit his 34th career home run in the fifth. The hit came off former teammate Joey Jay, who had just succeeded Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole (17-14).

The Reds were idle today and Manager Fred Hutchinson was expected to start John Tsitouris Friday night.

Had Utah beaten New Mexico in football last fall, all five eligible teams would have tied for the Western Athletic Conference title.

Braves, Vikings Are Primed For Initial Gridiron Epic

Two rival county schools, Teays Valley and Logan Elm, clash tomorrow night in the first football encounter between the two teams.

Although Teays Valley is playing an independent schedule this year and Logan Elm is in the Scioto Valley Conference, the game commands intense fan interest in the county.

The two schools are the first of newly consolidated districts to field football teams. Logan Elm is beginning its fourth year of competition while the Vikings are in their second.

For the Vikings, the starting lineup again depends on how injured and ailing players recuperate by game time.

CO-CAPTAIN John Rush will be in a starter if a cast protecting an injured arm is removed.

Bill Dore, Teays Valley quarterback, developed a slight cold and missed last night's practice session. But Coach Marion Waits is expecting him to be ready by game time tomorrow.

Tackle Tom Sampson missed last week's game when he suffered a rib injury in practice.

A lack of depth and injuries have been a problem for Waits and his gridders. Although there was a large freshmen turnout the first year men are not permitted to play on the varsity team. Consequently, the Viking varsity is a comparatively small unit.

Last year in their first year of competition, the Vikings finished the season with a mark of six wins, two losses and one deadlock.

So far this year, playing a rougher schedule, they have a record of one win and a pair of losses.

NEITHER coach apparently is planning any startling change in their offensive or defensive patterns.

Plans Readied For Second Grid Fish Fry

Annual Booster Event Will Coincide with CHS Homecoming Tilt

Plans for the second annual Circleville Booster Club Fish Fry, slated Oct. 4, are nearing completion, it was reported by Ernest (Snap) Ankrom last night at the Booster meeting.

The Fish Fry is the second large fund raising activity of the club for the year. The event last year netted about $325 for the organization. Boosters served an estimated 300 persons.

Serving is slated to begin at 5 p. m. and will last to 8 p. m. Booster president Bob Chapman pointed out that serving was on an "all you can eat" basis.

The date of the Fish Fry coincides with the Circleville High School Homecoming football game. The Tigers meet Washington C.H., a traditional SCO foe.

CHAPMAN said a report on the membership drive will be given at next week's meeting.

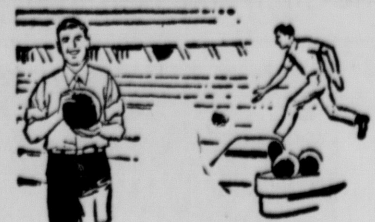

A proposal was made to have Paul Reiss, basketball coach, and Dave LaBounty, wrestling coach, outline equipment needs for their respective teams for the coming year. The proposed birthday calendar project was tabled.

About 35 persons were present to view movies of last week's football game and hear a scouting report on the Pleasant View tilt by Coach Paul Starr.

Chapman emphasized that meetings are open and everyone interested in the Circleville football team is welcome to attend.

During football season the group meets every Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Coca-Cola plant on S. Scioto St.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians start on the edge of the 1963 baseball trail tonight—and southpaw Tommy John is seeking his first major league triumph.

John is manager Birdie Tebbets' mound choice in the opener of the four-game final series with the Kansas City Athletics. His opponent will be Moe Drabowsky, a veteran who has a 7-12 record.

John has lost his only two starts, both against Los Angeles. He's pitched in five games and in 14 1-3 innings has a respectable 2.51 earned run average.

The Indians still have a slim chance for fifth place, trailing the Detroit Tigers by 1½ games.

Rowdy Youths Put Curbs on Night Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of America's most cherished traditions — the Friday or Saturday night high school football game — may become passe because of the growth of rowdiness and vandalism among the spectators.

The seriousness of the situation was highlighted recently when the city and Board of Education officials in Toledo, Ohio, and Milwaukee announced that all night games involving high school teams were being abandoned.

The schools were ordered to play in the afternoon.

The Toledo action was taken after a series of fights broke out following a Friday night game.

Four policemen were hurt in the disturbance. The Milwaukee City Council switched all games to Saturday afternoon because of what it called "unwarranted attacks and acts of vandalism."

Officials said no racial or religious problems apparently were involved.

Night high school play was banned in Providence, R.I., where officials said a major factor was "rowdiness, fights and vandalism." Bridgeport, Conn., ended night high school games after a 14-year-old boy was stabbed. Chicago cut out night football games for public high schools in 1954.

In New York, where there are hundreds of high schools, only about three per cent play games at night and these are almost always at the suggestion of an outside rival. To play a night game, it is necessary to get special permission from the school board—given only when trouble is not likely to occur.

Redlegs Seek To Share in Series Loot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The fifth-place Cincinnati Reds came to St. Louis today hoping to regain their hopes for a share of world series money at the expense of the Cardinals.

Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves trounced the Reds, 9-5, Wednesday night despite a rally that started with two out in the eighth inning.

At that time the score was 9 despite seven Cincinnati hits off the 42-year-old left-hander.

Spahn then walked Frank Robinson and Don Pavletich connected with his fifth home run.

That wasn't all. Tommy Harper singled and scored ahead of Leo Cardenas' seventh homer.

The Reds picked up their last run in the ninth on Pete Rose's leadoff double and Robinson's single.

Milwaukee did its scoring early. Its first run came on Eddie Mathews' lead-off homer in the second inning. Henry Aaron drove in three more in the next inning with his 43rd homer.

Spahn, now 22-7, bettered his own National League record when he hit his 34th career home run in the fifth. The hit came off former teammate Joey Jay, who had just succeeded Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole (17-14).

The Reds were idle today and Manager Fred Hutchinson was expected to start John Tsitouris Friday night.

Had Utah beaten New Mexico in football last fall, all five eligible teams would have tied for the Western Athletic Conference title.

Braves, Vikings Are Primed For Initial Gridiron Epic

Two rival county schools, Teays Valley and Logan Elm, clash tomorrow night in the first football encounter between the two teams.

Although Teays Valley is playing an independent schedule this year and Logan Elm is in the Scioto Valley Conference, the game commands intense fan interest in the county.

The two schools are the first of newly consolidated districts to field football teams. Logan Elm is beginning its fourth year of competition while the Vikings are in their second.

For the Vikings, the starting lineup again depends on how injured and ailing players recuperate by game time.

CO-CAPTAIN John Rush will be in a starter if a cast protecting an injured arm is removed.

Bill Dore, Teays Valley quarterback, developed a slight cold and missed last night's practice session. But Coach Marion Waits is expecting him to be ready by game time tomorrow.

Tackle Tom Sampson missed last week's game when he suffered a rib injury in practice.

A lack of depth and injuries have been a problem for Waits and his griders. Although there was a large freshmen turnout the first year men are not permitted to play on the varsity team. Consequently, the Viking varsity is a comparatively small unit.

Last year in their first year of competition, the Vikings finished the season with a mark of six wins, two losses and one deadlock.

So far this year, playing a rougher schedule, they have a record of one win and a pair of losses.

SCOUTING REPORT — Marc Albright, center, freshman coach and scout at Teays Valley High School, diagrams some Logan Elm maneuvers for Vikings John Rush, co-captain, and Dave Reese, quarterback-fullback. Logan Elm and Teays Valley tangle tomorrow night at Ashville in the initial football meeting between the two rival county schools.

Neither coach apparently is planning any startling change in their offensive or defensive patterns.

Logan Elm has an overall record of 22 wins and five losses since consolidation.

Guglielmi Quits Grid, Loses Pension

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Guglielmi has made his last play as a professional football player, kicking away more than a $100-a-week pension he could have claimed merely by showing up for one game with the San Francisco 49ers.

Traded to the 49ers by the New York Giants earlier in the week, the 29-year-old former Notre Dame All-American decided Wednesday to retire. In doing so, he passed up an estimated $437 monthly pension, or $5,244 a year, he would start receiving at age 65.

Guglielmi said he was aware of the pension but he had been refused a no-cut contract by San Francisco and "would have been doing a grave injustice to myself and to the 49ers if I went out there just to play one game and be sure of a pension."

Plans Readied For Second Grid Fish Fry

Annual Booster Event Will Coincide with CHS Homecoming Tilt

Plans for the second annual Circleville Booster Club Fish Fry, slated Oct. 4, are nearing completion, it was reported by Ernest (Snap) Ankrom last night at the Booster meeting.

The Fish Fry is the second large fund raising activity of the club for the year. The event last year netted about $325 for the organization. Boosters served an estimated 300 persons.

Serving is slated to begin at 5 p. m. and will last to 8 p. m. Booster president Bob Chapman pointed out that serving was on an "all you can eat" basis.

The date of the Fish Fry coincides with the Circleville High School Homecoming football game. The Tigers meet Washington C.H., a traditional SCO foe.

CHAPMAN said a report on the membership drive will be given at next week's meeting.

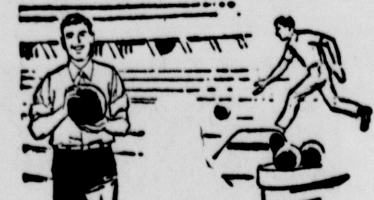

A proposal was made to have Paul Reiss, basketball coach, and Dave LaBounty, wrestling coach, outline equipment needs for their respective teams for the coming year. The proposed birthday calendar project was tabled.

About 35 persons were present to view movies of last week's football game and hear a scouting report on the Pleasant View tilt by Coach Paul Starr.

Chapman emphasized that meetings are open and everyone interested in the Circleville football team is welcome to attend.

During football season the group meets every Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Coca-Cola plant on S. Scioto St.

Woody Optimistic About OSU Opener

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's football squad, putting the finishing touches to preparations for Saturday's opener here against Texas A & M, kept Coach Woody Hayes radiating optimism.

The Buckeye kicking game got special attention Wednesday. Placekicker Dick Van Raaphorst was booming them long and straight while Steve Dreffer and Don Unverferth practiced punting.

The Texas Aggies are due in Friday morning, and plan an afternoon loosening-up session in Ohio Stadium. This will be their first appearance here.

Oklahoma won its last seven football games in 1962 then bowed to Alabama, 17-0, in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State has a record of 111 victories against 37 defeats for 17 seasons.

Browns Trust Young Pass Receivers

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are basing their passing game on a quintet of young receivers, none of whom has blazing speed.

They are flankers Gary Collins and Tom Hutchinson, split end Rich Kreitling and slot ends John Brewer and Bob Crespino. Also in the picture is 32-year-old Ray Renfro, now counted on only for spot duty in his 12th season in the National Football League.

Coach Blanton Collier is high on Collins, the 23 year-old former Maryland star who has become the regular flanker in his second pro season. Collins has caught nine passes for 137 yards and two touchdowns and ranks seventh in the league.

"Collins is a power type of receiver," Collier said Wednesday while discussing the 6-foot-4, 217-pound receiver. "He doesn't get knocked out of position. He also has the good hands you need."

Collier feels Collins has a chance to become one of the great receivers of football in future years. He calls Gary "an all around football player," referring to his ability as a punter, blocker and tackler.

The husky blond with the crew cut is in his second year as the team's punter. He was eighth in the league in 1962 with a 42.8-yard average for 45 kicks. With the Browns' offense clicking at a 39-point-a-game average, Collins has had to punt only twice this season.

NFL Shuns AFL Post-Season Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has quashed an informal proposal by the rival American League that the two pro leagues meet in a post-season championship playoff.

"We have no plans for such a game," was the only answer of NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The comment came after AFL Commissioner Joe Foss said Wednesday his league might make a formal proposal to the NFL for a playoff in 1964.

The 44-year-old AFL has made numerous overtures in the past to the 44-year-old NFL about a play-off game, but nothing has ever been formally proposed. And the NFL always has refused to elaborate on its "We have no plans for such a game" statement.

No one has duplicated Ty Cobb's feat of winning a major league battle title nine times in a row.

Ford To Oppose Koufax in Series

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee left-hander Whitey Ford, baseball's biggest World Series winner, will pitch the first game of the 1963 October classic, probably against Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax, at Yankee Stadium next Wednesday.

Yankee left-hander Al Downing and right-hander Jim Bouton will pitch the second and third games for the Yankees, manager Ralph Houk said today in making known his series plans. He did not specify the order of pitchers for the second and third games.

Houk said he would depend on just three starters, thus assigning Ralph Terry, pitching hero of the Yankees' 1962 World Series triumph, over San Francisco, to bullpen duty.

Houk also said he planned to play his eight regulars, including Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, in every game without resorting to platooning.

"I'm going to go with the pitchers who have done the best job during the regular season," the Yankee skipper said.

The same starting line-up which defeated the Giants in seven games last October will open against Los Angeles regardless of who pitches for the Dodgers.

"I understand the Dodgers are going to go with three pitchers, too — Koufax, Podres and Drysdale," said Houk. "I talked with Alston (Dodger Manager Walter Alston) during a radio interview and he came right out and said Koufax would pitch the first game."

"He said his second game choice lay between Podres and Drysdale."

Ford, whose 24 victories matches Koufax, will be seeking his 11th World Series triumph in the opener. He has lost five. Koufax, who has appeared in two World Series games, dropped his only decision in 1959. He was beaten 1-0 by the Chicago White Sox.

DON BURROUGHS, Eagles' halfback and defensive captain, was suspended for one game without pay for grabbing an official after Steelers' game. He apologized.

Podres gets into the rotation ahead of Drysdale for two reasons. First, John has given the Yankees trouble before—notably in the 1955 series, when he beat them twice. Second, Podres is a left-hander. New York has several strong left-handed hitters and the right-field seats at Yankee Stadium are almost within field goal range of home plate. At Dodger Stadium, the distance to the wall is the same in either direction.

Left-hander Ron Ferranowski, the National League's foremost relief pitcher, will be joined in the Dodger bullpen by Larry Sherry, Ken Rowe, Bob Miller, Pete Richert and Dick Calmus. The last three have been used both as starters and relievers, but are not likely to start in the series unless one of the top three starters is hurt or woefully ineffective in the early games.

Westfall Building Nears 50 Per Cent Completion Stage

WESTFALL SCHOOL BUILDING — The new Westfall School building at Pherson is nearing or past 50 per cent completion in several phases of construction. Since this aerial photo was taken, a portion of the roof over the academic wing, lower left, has been installed and all the forming on the gymnasium has been completed. The cement roof over the gym will be poured in about three weeks.

General construction on the new Westfall school building is about 50 per cent completed, it was reported today by Jud Lanman, executive head of Westfall district.

Plumbing and heating contractors have completed about 75 per cent of their installations, electrical work is about 50 per cent finished and the exterior grading is about 75 per cent done.

Lanman reported work on the new building is just a little behind schedule at present.

Work on the roof of the gymnasium was slowed when cement support columns did not meet specifications to insure adequate support of the roof. The columns had to be repoured.

ACTUAL pouring of the gym's cement roof, a round-the-clock operation once it is started, is still about three weeks away according to Lanman.

The Westfall school head pointed out that rumors the roof is two feet too low, which have apparently been circulating in the district, are not true.

Most of the loose equipment for the building has been purchased by the Westfall School Board. The purchased equipment includes:

All classroom seats, typing and bookkeeping tables and chairs, teachers desks and chairs, equipment for biology, physics and chemistry laboratories, drafting tables and stools, home economics equipment, industrial arts equipment, metal shop equipment, folding bleachers for the gymnasium, (capacity of the gym will be about 1,200), seats for the auditorium (508 capacity), cafeteria chairs, folding metal chairs and library equipment.

Structural steel has been erected in the building. Furnaces, gas fired hot water, are in place and the sewage lines have been installed although the disposal plant is not yet completed.

A PORTION of the roof over the academic wing has been completed. Lanman declined to estimate when the building will be ready for occupancy, noting that much depended on weather from now until the school is finished.

In the 1962 May primary, voters in the Westfall school district passed a $1,395,000 bond issue for the new high school. Two previous attempts had failed at the polls.

Actual construction of the school began early this spring.

The general contractor is the Knowlton Building Co. of Bellefontaine. School architects are Kellam and Folly.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 12 members of Ohio's new Youth Services Advisory Board, named by Gov. James A. Rhodes Wednesday, represent all sectors of the state.

They are Mrs. Mary E. Keating, Columbus; Martha Belle Boyd, Galion; Edward J. Ruzzo, Marion; George A. Lowe, Columbus; Joseph P. Mallone, Jefferson; Harold S. Rickert, Youngstown; Myron T. Brennenman, Wooster; Rabbi Selwyn D. Ruslander, Dayton; Benjamin S. Schwartz, Cincinnati; Walter G. Whitlatch, Lyndhurst; W. Richard Wright, Akron, and Thomas L. Barnett, Toledo.

The board, an adjunct of the new Ohio Youth Commission, will study juvenile delinquency and work with the commission, the governor and the legislature.

Views on Television — Radio

CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The product—and the only one—of a comedian is the laughter of his audience. Danny Kaye is a great comedian because he can evoke laughter in so many different ways.

Wednesday night in his premiere show on CBS, the red-haired pixie sang an amusing song with a pantomime accompaniment by a high stool that magically followed him around the stage. Then he followed up with a sketch that went on a little too long about a nervous man on his first plane ride.

The big production number was a demonstration of how a baseball song would be written by Lerner and Lowe, Leonard Bernstein and Meredith Willson.

One sketch about an instrumental group was slapstick that did not come off at all. But generally it was a delightful show with a nice easy swing to it.

The kindest thing one can do for "Glynis" the other CBS premiere of the evening is to ignore it and hope that it will go away quietly.

An alleged mystery comedy, it was so broad and corny that one felt sorry for capable Glynis Johns and handsome Keith Andes, its stars.

For the first time in almost two weeks, there will be no new programs making their debuts tonight. However, CBS' "Password" starts its season on a new night and hour (7:00-8 Eastern Daylight Time) with Lucille Ball and her husband, Gary Morton, as guest players. Both NBC's "Dr. Kildare" and CBS' "Perry Mason" have season premieres. Perry will perform his courtroom tricks an hour later this season (9-10).

Athens Voters Given Nod on Local Option

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Voters of Athens' Second Ward evidently will decide whether alcoholic beverages may be sold in their balliwick—where Columbus realtor John W. Galbreath proposes to build a big inn.

The Ohio Supreme Court, in what is believed to have been a first for the state's high tribunal, ruled directly Wednesday on the question of a local option election. The court agreed to order the election.

James T. Shipman of Athens, who lives near the site of the proposed inn, designed largely for Ohio University visitors, had filed for a writ of mandamus last month against the Athens County Board of Elections. The board had rejected his petition for a vote on the issue, having allowed 71 signers of his petition to withdraw their names.

Shipman contended the board had no right to let the signatures be removed.

TVHS First Aid Class Open to All Area Adults

Only five persons attended the initial first aid course conducted by State Highway Patrolman Richard Saunders at Teays Valley High School Tuesday.

Virginia Barrett supervisor of the course emphasized it was open to any adult in the Pickaway County area.

Persons who complete the course at Teays Valley may receive the standard first aid certificate.

The class meets 7 p. m. today in room 25 of the home economics department. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday nights for the next four weeks.

Lessons will consist of artificial respiration, recognizing and treating burns, strains, sprains, fractures, what to do in case of auto accidents and administering first aid to injured persons and how to make the community a safer place to live.

Seek Transfer Of Area Tavern

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control is currently processing an application for the transfer of ownership of the Oaks Tavern, in Walnut Twp., located on old Route 23.

The application was filed Sept. 16, for a transfer from Alma L. and Amos D. (dec'd.) Marshall to Loveda Ruth Epling.

Before granting or denying the application, the department makes a thorough investigation into the legal qualifications of the applicant and premises. If no major problems are encountered in the processing, it takes a minimum of 30 days for a final disposition.

DAHLIA MAN — William Cook, Pickaway County Fair manager, looks over some specimen flowers brought to him by a dahlia fancier. Dahlia growers in this area will stage a non-competitive dahlia show Sunday. The display will be held in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds. The public is invited to exhibit dahlias grown in area gardens. Entries may be registered from noon to 2 p.m. Viewing hours are from 2 to 6 p.m. The men are hoping arrangers will bring compositions featuring dahlias. Admission is free.

One new teacher and one bus driver were employed during this week's meeting of the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Mrs. Ada Smith, Lithopolis, was employed as first grade teacher at Walnut Twp. School. Frank Holtenback was hired to transport children from the Plainview Trailer Court and Lockbourne Lodge.

The board received a request to sell the building formerly used as the Madison Twp. School. Members decided to get an appraisal before discussing the possibility of selling the building. The matter was tabled until the next meeting.

CYNTHIA LOWERY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The product—and the only one—of a comedian is the laughter of his audience. Danny Kaye is a great comedian because he can evoke laughter in so many different ways.

Wednesday night in his premiere show on CBS, the red-haired pixie sang an amusing song with a pantomime accompaniment by a high stool that magically followed him around the stage. Then he followed up with a sketch that went on a little too long about a nervous man on his first plane ride.

The big production number was a demonstration of how a baseball song would be written by Lerner and Lowe, Leonard Bernstein and Meredith Willson.

One sketch about an instrumental group was slapstick that did not come off at all. But generally it was a delightful show with a nice easy swing to it.

The kindest thing one can do for "Glynis" the other CBS premiere of the evening is to ignore it and hope that it will go away—quietly.

An alleged mystery comedy, it was so broad and corny that one felt sorry for capable Glynis Johns and handsome Keith Andes, its stars.

For the first time in almost two weeks, there will be no new programs making their debuts tonight. However, CBS' "Password" starts its season on a new night and hour (7:00 Eastern Daylight Time) with Lucille Ball and her husband, Gary Morton, as guest players. Both NBC's "Dr. Kill-dare" and CBS' "Perry Mason" have season premieres. Perry will perform his courtroom tricks an hour later this season (9-10).

Athens Voters Given Nod on Local Option

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Voters of Athens' Second Ward evidently will decide whether alcoholic beverages may be sold in their balliwick—where Columbus realtor John W. Galbreath proposes to build a big inn.

The Ohio Supreme Court, in what is believed to have been a first for the state's high tribunal, ruled directly Wednesday on the question of a local option election. The court agreed to order the election.

James T. Shipman of Athens, who lives near the site of the proposed inn, designed largely for Ohio University visitors, had filed for a writ of mandamus last month against the Athens County Board of Elections. The board had rejected his petition for a vote on the issue, having allowed 71 signers of his petition to withdraw their names.

Shipman contended the board had no right to let the signatures be removed.

Seek Transfer Of Area Tavern

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control is currently processing an application for the transfer of ownership of the Oaks Tavern, in Walnut Twp., located on old Route 23.

The application was filed Sept. 16, for a transfer from Alma L. and Amos D. (dec'd.) Marshall to Loveda Ruth Epling.

Before granting or denying the application, the department makes a thorough investigation into the legal qualifications of the applicant and premises. If no major problems are encountered in the processing, it takes a minimum of 30 days for a final disposition.
